Nixon To Face Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Intelligence Committee will question former President Richard M. Nixon about U.S. operations against Chile, but it has decided not to ask entertainer Frank Sinatra about a woman associated with John F. Kennedy and organized crime figures.

The committee voted Friday to submit a series of written questions to the former president about U.S. efforts to overthrow Chilean President Salvador Allende and about the so-called Houston plan for domestic intelligence gathering, chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, said.

But Church said the committee saw no reason to question Sinatra about a possible link between President John F. Kennedy and the Mafia in a CIA plot to kill Cuba's Fidel Castro.

Sinatra had been named as the "mutual friend" who introduced Kennedy to Judith Campbell Exner, a California woman who also knew two underworld figures involved in a CIA plot to kill Castro.

Committee members questioned Mrs. Exner last summer and decided she had not been used to relay information between Kennedy and the two underworld figures, Sam Giancana and John Rosselli.

Church said the decision to submit written questions to Nixon was "the best available" (solution) given the length of time remaining for the panel to complete its investigation. The committee is scheduled to end its business on Feb. 29.

Nixon earlier refused to testify before the entire committee, saying he would talk in secret to the panel's ranking members. The committee rejected that proposal.

Meanwhile, the House Intelligence Committee approved its final report after cutting out secrets President Ford's advisors said might endanger agents and embarrass the nation diplomatically.

Chairman Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., said the committee also deleted "unduly critical" comments about Ford administration officials, including Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

In another development, a former television reporter's claim that Walter Cronkite, John Chancellor and other prominent television figures are named in a list of journalists who have co-operated with the CIA was widely denied.

Both Chancellor, anchorman for the "NBC Nightly News," and Cronkite, anchorman and managing editor of the "CBS Evening News," flatly denied any relationship with the CIA.

The claim they were on the list was made by Sam A. Jaffe, a former correspondent for CBS and ABC news.

Jaffe said in television interviews Friday that he had learned of the list from the House Intelligence Committee as well as from former ABC correspondent Bill Gill.

Both Gill and A. Searle Field, chief counsel for the House panel, denied Jaffe's claim. Jaffe also had said that former Nixon speechwriter Patrick Buchanan had confirmed the existence of the list, but Buchanan denied it.

Kissinger Sets Trip To Madrid

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger left Brussels for Madrid today, where he was expected to sign an agreement with the government of King Juan Carlos to continue the use of four American military bases in return for $1.25 billion in U.S. aid.

The pact will require ratification by a two-thirds vote of the U.S. Senate. The bases have been operated under Spanish-American executive agreements, which do not require Senate ratification.

Kissinger told North Atlantic Treaty Organization foreign ministers in Brussels Friday that the Soviet Union has proposed a 10 per cent reduction in all U.S. and Soviet nuclear weapons as a way to break a deadlock on strategic arms limitation talks.

But Kissinger told a news conference after the meeting that this was only one of several ideas and it might or might not appear in the final package.

The secretary said the Soviet Union's proposals were "significant and constructive." But one official said a lot of work remained to be done, and Kissinger might have to make one or two trips back to Moscow to complete the basic outlines of an accord.

But the official said if the negotiations progress smoothly, Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev, with whom Kissinger met in Moscow, might come to Washington as early as May to sign a new treaty with President Ford.

CRUSADE CHAIRMAN — Larry Eveland, chairman of the 1976 Cancer Crusade feels that the purpose of the crusade has a twofold purpose, to raise money for research and patient care and of equal importance, public awareness of the disease. He said that early diagnosis leads to cure, and cancer can be cured. The Crusade will be held in March this year.

'Slasher' Slayings Bring 11 Charges

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man already in prison for a brutal hatchet attack has been indicted in 11 bizarre killings, nine of which police believe were the work of the so-called "Skid Row Slasher."

The county grand jury indicted Vaughn O. Greenwood, 32, on Friday for the killings, mostly of derelicts and transients, over an 11-year period. The indictment was returned after three

Snow Showers Scattered Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow showers continued to fall today over portions of the north central and northeastern United States, as a stationary front spread the snow from southern New England across the Great Lakes into northeast North Dakota.

Travelers advisories remain in effect today for northern and east central Minnesota and the northern and central sections of Wisconsin.

Overnight precipitation elsewhere was limited to a few rain showers over extreme west Texas and extreme southern New Mexico, plus some snow showers from southeast Idaho into the central portion of the Sierras.

Clouds covered the central and eastern portions of Texas, the eastern sections of Washington and Oregon and the central and southern California coast.

The rest of the nation is experiencing mostly clear skies.

Except for the extreme northeastern United States, temperatures overnight were near or slightly above normal. The northeast was expected to warm somewhat over the weekend, but colder air will break the unseasonably warm trend in the plains.

Temperatures around the nation at 2 a.m. (est) today ranged from 68 at Dallas to 23 below zero at Massena, N.Y.

The National Weather Service forecast for today called for continued snow over southern New England and eastern New York. Rain showers will extend from the lower Mississippi valley to the southwestern Ohio valley. Fog will be over western Oregon into southern and eastern Washington. Temperatures will be cool over Florida, and it also will be cool from the Pacific Coast through the Rockies and northern plains, as well as the Great Lakes and northern Ohio valley. It will be cool or cold over New England.

days of closed hearings under a court-imposed gag order.

Greenwood, an ex-convict, is serving a 32-years-to-life sentence for a knife and hatchet attack on two men in 1964 and the burglary of actor Burt Reynolds' Hollywood Hills home last year.

At Greenwood's sentencing last September, Superior Court Judge Jack Goertzen called him a "phenomenal danger to society."

Evidence presented to the grand jurors indicated the skid row killer, who gruesomely slashed his victims' throats ear-to-ear, cutting through to the spine, sometimes drank the blood of his prey.

Greenwood is expected to be returned to Los Angeles from Folsom Prison next week and could be arraigned within two weeks.

The "Slasher" attacks began Dec. 1, 1974. A victim with a slashed throat was found about once every week until Jan. 31, 1975, when the body of Clyde C. Hay, 34, a mechanic for the National Cash Register Co., was discovered in Hollywood. Most of the other victims were found in the skid row area.

Greenwood also is accused of killing two men 12 years ago in downtown Los Angeles.

According to the indictment, the first victim was murdered Nov. 13, 1964, on the steps of the main library, where derelicts frequently sleep and hang out. The victim bore the characteristic throat slashing and had suffered multiple stab wounds.

The first of the so-called "Slasher" victims was discovered at almost the same location.

The second 1964 victim was discovered Nov. 14 in a second-floor restroom of a cheap hotel where he had been staying. His throat, too, had been slashed after he was stabbed repeatedly in the upper torso and head.

The first seven killings were confined to the skid row area. Several victims were reportedly homosexuals. But the last two victims, neither of them transients, were found in the Hollywood area.

More than 30 officers had been assigned to a so-called "Slasher Squad" full-time, looking for a man described by psychiatrists as a "sexually impotent coward, venting his own feeling of worthlessness on hapless derelicts and down-and-outers."

Weather

Low tonight in upper 20s. Sunday, cloudy with a chance of rain or snow, high, mid 20s. Chance of precipitation, 20 per cent tonight and 30 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Friday were: high, 47; low, 39.

PLO Soldiers Occupy Areas Of Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Palestine Liberation Army soldiers occupied a large part of eastern Lebanon today and policed Moslem-controlled western Beirut, warning that looters would be shot on sight.

The Palestinians rolled into the Lebanese capital in a convoy of Russian trucks to enforce a Syrian-negotiated ceasefire between warring Christians and Moslems. The truce appeared to be holding.

A European diplomat said he saw a Palestinian shoot and kill one looter near Spinneys, Beirut's largest department store, which had been stripped bare by looters. Six looters were reported killed Thursday, the day the cease-fire became effective.

A Lebanese military spokesman reported only "scattered, isolated incidents" in the ceasefire, but at least 14 persons were reported killed and another 22 wounded. More than 9,000 have been killed in the nine-month-old civil war.

Beirut airport reopened Friday for the first time in a week, and sources said the first plane to land carried a team of Syrian army officers to help supervise the cease-fire.

The Palestinian army units patrolling Beirut streets and occupying much of eastern Lebanon had crossed the border from Syria earlier in the week.

Associated Press correspondent Edward Cody toured eastern Lebanon, and said battle-hardened Palestinian soldiers were running the area like conquered territory.

"We are masters of all the strategic military points," said Abu Amjad, battle zone political officer for the Popular Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

"We will not leave before making sure that the national demands of the Lebanese progressive forces are satisfied," he referred to the Syrian-sponsored cease-fire agreement designed to equalize Christian and Moslem political power.

Palestinian spokesmen said an agreement to let the PLA soldiers patrol Beirut had been worked out by Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul Halim Khaddam: Yasir Arafat, head of the PLA's parent Palestine Liberation Organization; and leftwing Moslem leaders.

The Lebanese government made no comment on the agreement, which was announced on state-run television and radio. But the right-wing Phalange party, which has the largest of the Christian militias, said the agreement violated Lebanese sovereignty.

Lebanese police pulled out of western Beirut several days ago.

The truce agreement established a commission of two ranking officers from the Lebanese, Syrian and Palestinian armies that is to set guidelines for a political settlement.

4 Candidates Challenge Wallace

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Four candidates challenged Alabama Gov. George Wallace today in Mississippi's precinct caucuses, the second such preliminary test for Democratic presidential hopefuls.

Democrats planned to gather at 2,133 locations across the state to begin a complicated process of selecting delegates to the party's national convention this summer. Party officials say it may be several days before the results are known.

Mississippi will have only 24 of the 3,008 national convention votes, but the state has attracted attention because its delegate selection begins so early in the election year and because it is the first confrontation between Wallace and two other Southerners.

Similar caucuses were held in Iowa last week and nearly 40 per cent of that state's delegates were not committed to any candidate. Many Mississippians were expected to follow the same route.

Most of the candidates in Mississippi have acknowledged that Wallace, who got 68 per cent of the state's vote in the 1968 election, would be the man to beat today.

The other Southerners — former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas — have said they felt they would give Wallace

Red-Backed Troops Grab Angolan Port

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Soviet-backed Popular Movement (MPLA) troops have captured the key Atlantic port of Novo Rodondo from pro-Western National Union (UNITA) forces in Angola's civil war and are advancing on Huambo, the town UNITA has declared its capital, reports from the front said today.

The Popular Movement (MPLA) forces were heavily armed with Soviet tanks, artillery and rocket launchers and spearheaded by Cuban troops, correspondents for the London Daily Telegraph reported.

The correspondents said "the scent of victory is strong" at MPLA headquarters in Luanda, capital of the former Portuguese colony.

The fall of Novo Rodondo, 310 miles south of Luanda, exposed Lobito, Angola's major port, and Benguela, the western terminal of the trans-Angola railroad. The two are about 100 miles south of Novo Rodondo and some 150 miles west of Huambo.

Cuban-led MPLA strike groups, supported by Soviet-supplied heavy artillery commanded by Cuban officers, claimed to have seized the strategic Caninda road bridge over the Queve River in two days of fierce fighting, the Telegraph reported. The bridge is some 100 miles northwest of Huambo.

The river was the last major natural barrier in the MPLA's southward thrust, which has rolled about 140 miles in the last 10 days.

The correspondents quoted MPLA officers saying they have moved heavy guns over the bridge, believed to be the only one still intact in the area, to the south bank of the river.

UNITA forces had been expected to blow up the bridge if they retreated.

a strong run in Mississippi's caucuses. Carter got more delegate support than any other candidate in Iowa, but Wallace was not among those who campaigned there.

Sargent Shriver, the Democrats' 1972 vice presidential candidate, and former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma have also campaigned for delegate votes here.

The rules allow any eligible Democratic voter to attend the caucus at his precinct and declare a preference for a candidate or declare himself uncommitted.

Groups of voters favoring one candidate — or choosing the uncommitted course — that get support from at least 15 per cent of the total attendance at each precinct will send delegates to county conventions.

Representation at the county level will be proportional to support at the precinct caucuses. Thus, if one candidate has 50 per cent of the vote at the precinct level, he will have half the precinct's votes at the county convention.

At the county conventions on Feb. 14, delegates will be chosen to Feb. 21 congressional district conventions.

Nineteen national convention delegates will be chosen at the congressional district level. The other five will be selected at large at a state convention on Feb. 29.

Kleindienst Portrait Unveiled In Justice Department Halls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Has it been nearly two years since Richard Kleindienst stood and wept as he pleaded guilty to breaking a law he had sworn to uphold as the nation's attorney general?

If memories of that day flitted through Kleindienst's mind, he gave no sign of it Friday as he returned to the Justice Department for what he called "the greatest honor of my life."

He grinned broadly as his portrait was unveiled and hung in the corridor just outside the office he occupied as Richard Nixon's attorney general from June 12, 1972, to May 25, 1973.

In the flesh and in the portrait, he was the picture of the prosperous Washington lawyer with his well-tailored navy pin-striped suit, the bottom vest button unfastened over his round midsection.

He glowed with pleasure at the jibes from Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi, Deputy Atty. Gen. Harold R. Tyler and Solicitor Gen. Robert H. Bork as they delivered the speeches such ceremonies demand.

But the jibes were good-natured and contained no hint of Kleindienst's dark days of negotiating a deal with the Watergate prosecutors, themselves a part of the department, though with a charter of independence.

Kleindienst came close to a perjury charge, a felony, but was allowed to plead guilty to a misdemeanor of failing to testify fully to the Senate Judiciary Committee. He had testified under oath that the White House had not pressured him, as deputy attorney general, to drop an antitrust suit against the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. It was disclosed later that an angry Nixon telephoned Kleindienst personally to demand that he drop the case but that Kleindienst resisted.

"I was wrong, and I sincerely regret it," Kleindienst told the court in May 1974 as he was sentenced to one month in jail and a $100 fine, both suspended.

Choosing to skip over that period, Levi told the gathering of some 200 department officials and other dignitaries that he was "struck by the rich vein of affection for Mr. Kleindienst" among department employees.

The four-foot-high portrait, by Arizona artist Robert G. Harris, was hung next to Robert F. Kennedy's in the gallery of portraits of former attorneys general. The department pays $5,000 for each portrait.

Palm Oil Imports Spirling

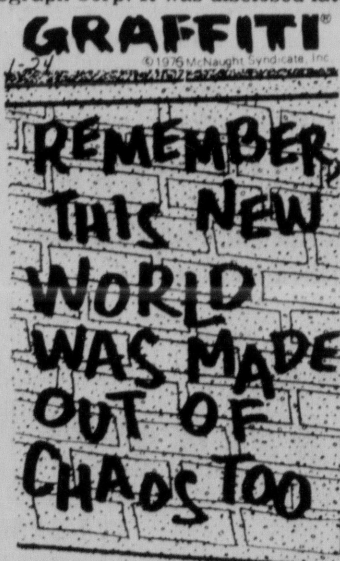

WASHINGTON (AP) — If imports of tropical palm oil continue rising at their current pace, their annual volume by 1985 could equal the vegetable oil produced from all the soybeans grown in Iowa last year, according to Agriculture Department analysts.

Palm oil imports have soared mainly because production in Malaysia and several other countries has jumped and because the oil is relatively inexpensive to produce. Thus, palm oil can be sold in the United States at prices competitive with domestic soybean oil.

The oil is used for a variety of consumer food products, including margarine, shortening and salad dressing.

The staff report by the department's Foreign Agricultural Service, distributed Friday, also showed that palm oil production in Malaysia and some of the other countries has benefited from international aid programs, including those supported by U.S. tax dollars.

Last year more than 400,000 metric tons of palm oil were imported, equivalent to the oil from 83 million bushels of soybeans, according to USDA. That is about the size of last year's crop in Alabama, Kansas and Kentucky combined.

Usery Gets Cautious Labor Nod

WASHINGTON (AP) — W.J. Usery, the former machinists union official who is the Ford administration's top labor mediator, received cautious congratulations from labor leaders as he accepted President Ford's invitation to become his third secretary of labor.

Usery, 52, must be confirmed by the Senate before he succeeds John Dunlop, who quit after Ford changed his mind and vetoed a labor-backed bill to expand union picketing rights at construction projects.

"You've accepted the worst appointment that Jerry Ford has to offer," Sheetmetal Workers President Edward Carrough wired Usery. "For 30 years you've functioned in situations where a man's word is his bond. So far as the President's concerned, his bond has all the value of a 1927 cigar coupon."

Carrough concluded, "Maybe you'll find some way to enhance its value. Good luck."

AFL-CIO President George Meany said of Usery, "His years of able and constructive work as director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, as well as his prior service in the Department of Labor and in the labor movement, clearly qualify him for the job."

Meany said Usery "will assume his new office under difficult circumstances following the events that compelled the resignation of one of the most distinguished secretaries of labor ever to hold that office."

Whether you have a new camera or one that's been around a while, you may want to sharpen your photography skills. Six 4-H projects are available for youth ages 9 to 19 who want to learn about photography.

The beginner learns basics about the care and use of a camera and how to recognize and correct common mistakes. Projects move on to improve photography skills by teaching how to choose films, control action, light and the subject, and how to care for and store negatives and photographs.

Projects also teach how to tell a story with pictures and how to plan photo composition. More advanced projects show developing film, and printing pictures. One project explores career opportunities in photography.

For the person who likes to compete, there is a trip to National 4-H Congress for the state 4-H photography winner. Six $1,000 scholarships are given to national winners by the Eastman Kodak Company each year.

Any youth interested in photography or other 4-H programs should call the Pickaway County Extension Service at 474-7534 for more information.

The National Broadcasting Company (NBC) in cooperation with its local affiliate is sponsoring an essay contest for high school students, grades 9-12, on the theme "What Is An American?"

Prizes are five $5,000 scholarships each for higher education. Deadline for entries to be in the station is March 1, 1976. Winners will be announced July 4, 1976.

4-H youth interested should contact the local NBC station or the County Extension Office for details.

Charles Fuller, Public Affairs Director of WLW radio, the NBC network affiliate in Cincinnati, encourage 4-H'ers to enter. He feels that this is an excellent way to learn about citizenship. Fuller said, "At WLW, we believe in youth and 4-H is one of the outstanding youth programs in the country. It teaches youth good citizenship. I encourage 4-H'ers to enter this essay contest."

He added, "You may submit as many entries as you wish. But, each entry must be an original, no xerox or carbon copy, and must be entered separately."

Feed Grain Allotments Set For '76

Farms without a feed grain allotment may have an allotment for the 1976 program established if they meet eligibility requirements.

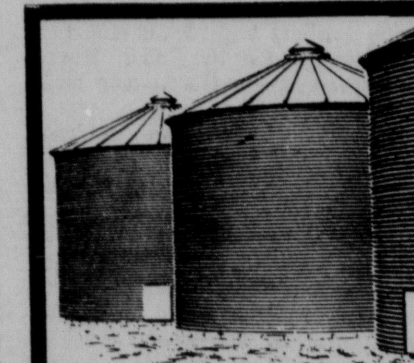

An application for a new farm feed grain allotment must be filed with the Pickaway County ASCS office at 1440 North Court Street in Circleville by February 15, 1976.

Feed grain allotments for 1976 are automatically established for all eligible old feed grain farms. The new farm provision applies only to farms that do not have an allotment.

To be eligible for a new farm allotment:

1. Neither the owner nor the operator of the farm may have an interest in any other farm that has a feed grain allotment established for 1976.
2. The operator must expect to obtain more than 50 percent of his 1976 income from farming.
3. The farm for which an application is filed must be suitable for feed grain production without undue erosion.

Any interested producer who can meet these requirements should contact the ASCS office for an application by the filing date.

Naturally Ventilated Cold Housing Okay For Livestock

Swine, dairy cows and beef cattle can perform well in cold housing that has adequate natural ventilation.

However, considerable care must be taken in the design of the naturally ventilated structure, if it is to function properly, says Harvey B. Manbeck, Agricultural Engineer, The Ohio State University.

A cold, naturally ventilated livestock structure means it is ventilated without mechanical fans, has minimal insulation in the roof area, minimal or no sidewall insulation, may be enclosed on 4 sides or have open front, maintains a winter temperature 10 to 25 degrees above outdoor temperature, and a summer temperature 5 to 10 degrees below outdoors.

Primary factors to consider when planning a naturally ventilated livestock structure are prevailing wind direction, site selection, building orientation and construction details.

Manbeck says.

All of these factors are vital to adequate performance. The first three affect the availability of ventilating air at the building. The construction details affect the distribution of air through the building, he says.

Prevailing wind direction in Ohio is normally 65 to 70 per cent from northwest, west and southwest. Locate the building on a knoll rather than a depression at least 150 feet east of road or pond embankment, wooded area and to other structures, and be sure you design a westward wall facing prevailing wind.

In Ohio, orient the structure with the ridge line running north and south so that prevailing wind travels through narrow dimension of the building. Open front should face eastward, he says.

There should be an eave height of 9 feet or more with a roof slope of 4 to 12 or greater. Continuous eave vents 4 to 6 inches wide along both sidewalls is best for winter ventilation. Also, there should be continuous open and unobstructed ridge vents along entire building length. Wall panels along each sidewall should be easily opened and adjustable for summer ventilation. Use 3 by 6 or 4 by 8 panels and design for 40 to 60 per cent of sidewalls to be opened when needed.

The size of ridge vents depends on the building width and its function. For dairy and beef cattle, use 6 inch wide vents for a 40 foot wide building; 8 inches for 50 foot wide building; and 10 inches for 60 foot wide building. For swine, use 1 inch per 10 feet of width.

Insulation is required in naturally ventilated livestock buildings to control condensation in winter and to reduce solar heat loads in summer. In all cases, a vapor barrier is required on the inside surface of the insulation.

More detailed information on design and construction of this type building is available in beef, dairy and swine housing handbooks. These handbooks are available through your local county Extension Service Office or from the Extension Agricultural Engineer, The Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio 43210. Cost is $2 each.

Are you between the ages of 20-35 and living alone? A thesis research project to study the eating and diet habits of persons of this age and living alone is being done by a home agent at The Ohio State University. If you would be willing to participate in her questionnaire, please contact our office (474-7534).

There are many dietary research studies being done world-wide, especially in relation to heart disease and cancer proneness. The following are a few study results I want to share with you. They come from a booklet titled "Meat and Your Heart" published by the National Livestock and Meat Board, 36 S. Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill., 60603. The theme of the articles reported is to show that meat as such is probably not causing problems. It is how much fats we are eating in relation to how much exercise and activity is present in our daily lives.

J. N. Morris, M.D., and others, in studying various occupational groups in the United Kingdom, found a two-to-four times higher incidence and greater severity of coronary heart disease in bus drivers who sit all day driving than in bus conductors whose occupation required much walking and climbing. Detailed studies revealed that the eating patterns of these people were essentially the same. Exercise levels seemed to be the major difference in their life patterns.

A study of postal workers gave similar results. Mail clerks had an incidence of coronaries twice as high as the far more active mail carriers.

Further evidence of the importance of exercise comes from studies of African tribesmen. Samburu tribesmen in northern Kenya were shown in studies by A. G. Shaper, M.D., to have low serum cholesterol levels, which did not increase with age. This seems particularly significant because animal fat provided over 60 per cent of the total calories during much of their lives.

Further work by Shaper, with two additional tribes, suggested that a very high fat diet may not raise cholesterol levels if the calories consumed are in balance with caloric needs.

In studies of the Masai men of Tanzania, G. V. Mann, M.D., Sc.D., Vanderbilt University Medical School, reported even lower serum cholesterol levels than were present in Shaper's studies. Mann reported that atherosclerosis does exist in the Masai, but is apparently made innocuous by their exercise and physical fitness.

The Ireland-Boston Heart Study by the Harvard University School of Public Health indicated that diet is relatively unimportant. For this "Irish Brothers" study, each Boston subject was paired with his brother still living in Ireland. Diets, cholesterol, and heart disease were followed in the two groups for a number of years.

There was no real difference in serum cholesterol values in the two groups. Regarding the diets, the Ireland brothers consumed more total calories, including more animal fat, more starchy foods (sources of fiber) but less sugar than the Boston residents. Intake of protein and cholesterol was similar but the Boston brothers consumed more polyunsaturated fat. There was a much larger incidence of heart disease among the Boston residents. The results were explained by experts on the basis of the greater physical activity of those in Ireland or possibly the greater dietary fiber intake.

Pickaway SWCD Given 'Superior' Rating

SUPERIOR — The Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District received a "Superior" rating for outstanding work in the field of conservation during 1975. Chaney Vance (left), a member of the PSWCD Board of Supervisors, receives the award from Bobbie Anderson, representing the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

Supervisors of the Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District attended the 33rd Annual Meeting of the Ohio Federation of Soil and Water Conservation Districts. Those attending from the local Soil and Water Conservation District were: Mr. and Mrs. David Bolender, Mr. and Mrs. Chaney Vance, H. M. Everhart, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Archer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bower, Scott Skinner and Olive Neff.

The Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District received a "Superior Rating" for their outstanding work in the field of Conservation, presented by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. Chaney Vance, education chairman of the local district, received the award presented by Bobbie Anderson, Distinctive Service Awards committee member.

The Ladies Auxiliary meeting was held in conjunction with the Federation Meeting. Jane Vance, wife of Chaney Vance, was elected secretary-treasurer for the years 1976-77.

ACP Cost Sharing Approved

The Pickaway County Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) has been approved by the development group for cost-sharing on practices that provide enduring soil and water conservation measures.

Roy Dunkle, chairman of the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service

(ASCS) Committee, reported that applications are being accepted for practices approved in the county program.

Practices available are: permanent grass seedings, tree planting, reservoirs, diversions, sod waterways, structures, lime for vegetative cover, and open and underground drainage.

Dunkle pointed out that the application certification states in part "that the practice is needed to conserve soil and water resources on the farm and would not be performed to the extent requested and needed without federal cost-share."

ACP is a two-part program. The annual program will provide assistance for practices that will be performed in 1976. The Long Term Agreements (LTA) will cover all conservation needs for the farm and will be completed over a period of from 3 to 10 years. The LTA's must include two or more practices needed and at least one practice must be completed the first year.

Maximum cost-share rates are from 50 to 75 per cent of the actual cost, not to exceed an amount determined by the Pickaway County ASC Committee. Each application will be considered on an individual basis.

Prior to making your application, it would be well to discuss your plans with the Soil Conservation Service and the contractor you are considering to do the work. They will assist you in determining conservation needs, cost estimates, and when the work can begin. This information will be needed by the county committee when they consider your request.

Please call the ASCS office if you have any questions.

The Ashtabula railroad disaster came Dec. 29, 1876, when the Pacific Express, traveling westward over the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad, broke through the iron bridge over the Ashtabula River and plunged 75 feet into the water during a blizzard. There were 156 persons in the cars and at least 80 persons perished. Five died after rescue, and most of the others were hurt.

Build Bicentennial Flower Bed

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Everyone is being caught up in the bicentennial celebration of our nation. In one way or another, you'll get involved in the nation's 200th birthday activities. Already, the red, white and blue colors are being used in various ways to commemorate the occasion.

Across the nation, gardeners are planning Bicentennial Flower Beds. Following are recommended flowers, instructions and design for the nationally adopted Bicentennial Flower Bed.

Selecting Flowers

First, the Bicentennial Flower Bed should be planted with short, stocky plants that are thickly branched and ready to begin blooming. Get them from a reliable source.

Annual flowers recommended for the bed require full sun. Plant after the last damaging frost in the spring. Select a location that will receive at least 6 hours of sunlight per day. Plants will grow with less sunlight but will not bloom well.

Plants recommended for the Bicentennial Flower Bed are:

RED AREA

Salvia: St. John's Fire has an average height of 12 inches and blooms mid-May through September. Another is Red Sentinel, which averages 16 inches in height and blooms from April through September.

Begonia: New Red Wonder averages 12 inches in height and blooms in full sun from April through August. Red Tausendschoen averages 6 to 10 inches in full bloom and tolerates slight shade. It blooms from April through August.

Geranium: Carefree Crimson averages 15 inches in height and does not require pinching. It blooms April through October. Nittany Lion Red has an average height of 15 inches with single, scarlet flowers; blooms from April through October.

WHITE AREA

Alyssum: Tiny Tim averages 3 inches in height, is very compact and blooms April through August.

Vinca: Little Bright Eye averages 10 inches high, has sparkling white flowers with a bright eye, and blooms continuously from late April through summer—in full sun.

Petunia: Bridal Bouquet, Glacier, Alaska, LaPaloma, White Cascade, White Magic and Polar Cap, all bloom from April through August.

Dusty Miller: Silver Dust averages 8 inches high, has no bloom but the foliage is grayish white.

BLUE AREA

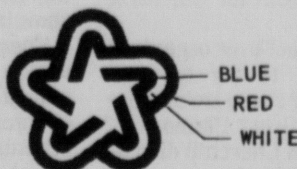

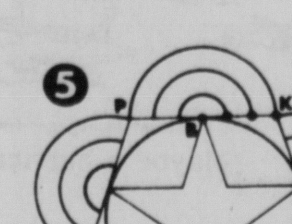

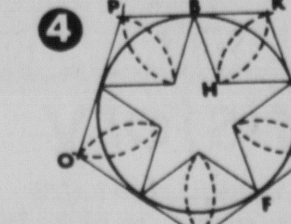

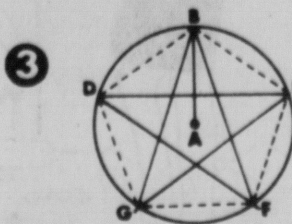

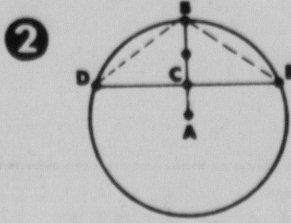

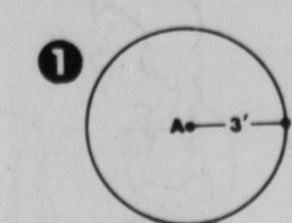

Ageratum: Blue Blazer averages 6 to 8 inches in height. Flowers cover over for continuous bloom from April through August. Blue Mink averages 12 inches in height, is uniform in growth habit and blooms from April through August.

Constructing the Flower Bed

1. Drive a stake in the ground in the center of the flower bed area (A). Tie a piece of string loosely to the stake. Measure off 3 feet of string from the stake and tie a stick at this point. Pulling the string taut, use the stick to draw a complete circle. This circle should be about 6 feet in diameter. The completed flower bed will be about 10 to 12 feet. For a larger or smaller bed, change the diameter of the circle.

2. Draw a line from the center (A) to the top of the circle (B). This will be the top point of the star. Divide this line (A-B) into thirds. At the lower third (C), draw a line (D-E) at right angle to line A-B. To be sure you have located points D and E correctly, stretch a piece of string between points B and E between points B and D. They should be of the same distance.

3. To locate points F and G, use the same length of string you measured from B to E. Hold one end at Point E. Stretch the other end to where it will contact the lower part of the circle. This will be point F. Find point G by stretching the string from D to the lower part of the circle. You now have the five points of the star. They should

Energy Big Factor In Farming

The energy crisis is still with us. Natural fuels — gas and oil — are in great demand but very short supply. Farmers must have the fuels and are forced to become more energy wise, says Thomas Carpenter, Extension Agricultural Engineer at The Ohio State University.

Energy costs are going to increase to the point that they become a dominant factor in the decision making process, says Carpenter.

High energy costs will require changes in methods. Farmers will have to be more concerned about energy inputs. They will need to consider the energy situation when investing in equipment and supplies they plan to use for the next 10 to 15 years.

Agriculture should concentrate on improving the output-input energy ratio. The food system has to move toward new technologies that will lower net energy consumption in relation to total production.

"We have to first look at the entire picture of energy consumption in agriculture and then go after the big items", Carpenter adds.

Too often, conservation is exploited. Merchants use the energy saving idea to push their products. A thousand dollar conservation device may save only $20 worth of energy. Farmers must stop and evaluate the many claims being made concerning energy savings.

Actually, agriculture has been somewhat more aware of energy utilization than other industries, Carpenter says.

Farm production uses two to three per cent of the nation's energy. The entire food system utilizes only 12 to 15 per cent of the total U.S. energy. Transportation, processing, packaging, distribution, and home preparation of food use the bulk of energy input for the food we eat.

be equidistant. Draw lines to connect the points of the star.

4. Now you must draw a pentagon outside the circle. To draw it accurately, drive stakes into the ground at points B and E. Tie strings to the stakes. Stretch both strings to point H (see illustration) and tie a stick to the point where the arches cross (point K). Move the stakes from point B to point F. Do the same thing to find point M. Continue this process till you have marked points N, O, and P. Draw lines between these points.

5. You are now ready to draw the arches. Start by dividing the distance from B to K into thirds. Drive a stake into the ground at point B and tie a string around it. Stretch the string to point K and tie a stick at the point. Pulling the string taut, use the stick to draw a half circle from each of the two points marked along line B-K to line B-P. Make arches this same way on each side of the pentagon.

6. It might be helpful now to rub out all the lines except the arches, the pentagon, and the outside lines of the star.

Use string as a guide to draw the final lines in the flower bed design. Stretch string between corresponding points of the arches (R to S, T to U). However, draw lines only from the right side of the star to the arch on the right (V to S, W to U). Do this on the other four sides. Now rub out lines P-B and V-W. Also, rub out the corresponding lines on the other sides.

Now you are ready to plant the areas designated red, white and blue, with flowers recommended under selecting flowers.

Rail Route Loss Story Doubted

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An aide to Gov. Otis R. Bowen says a prediction by Amtrak President Paul Reistrup on loss of routes is premature.

Reistrup warned Thursday that President Ford's proposed budget could force the national passenger service to drop 19 routes, three affecting Indiana.

But William J. Watt of Bowen's staff said, "My personal belief is that any comments being made right now are an attempt to generate the kind of attention needed to get your own way."

Ford Health Disclosure Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House aides say President Ford's new medical report will be made public after his examination Saturday, although Ford's physician says such disclosure could overstep the bounds of privacy and set a bad precedent for future presidents.

Ford has urged other candidates for the presidential nominations to also reveal their health records.

But White House physician William Lukash said he feels "uncomfortable about the precedent" of releasing minute details of a patient's record in view of the traditional confidential patient-doctor relationship.

"Exams are really a private thing —there's a certain dignity about one's physical exam," Lukash said in an interview Thursday. He said the public may be entitled to have information about the ability of a president to perform his duties "but to lay out all the details that go with it is beyond the propriety of one's privacy."

He said he doesn't see the need for making public "trivial medical information" that does not really relate to the individual's ability to perform on the job.

Lukash indicated he would rather not report about such things as a case of hemorrhoids or blood pressure levels that might require treatment but not be of any significance in the general health of the patient or to disclose precise medicines being administered.

Silent Alarm 'Test' Success

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — The silent alarm was set off and seven law enforcement officers plus the game warden swooped down on the office of the Knox County treasurer recently only to find that the alarm tripper was the treasurer himself.

"In less than three minutes seven officers of the law came running with sawed-off shotguns and pistols and everything else," said treasurer John Mickley, who said the reaction "made him feel good that the system worked."

The office is equipped with several buttons which can be activated by a touch of a knee. Mickley said he didn't know he had set off the alarm until the officers charged in.

Build Bicentennial Flower Bed

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Everyone is being caught up in the bicentennial celebration of our nation. In one way or another, you'll get involved in the nation's 200th birthday activities. Already, the red, white and blue colors are being used in various ways to commemorate the occasion.

Across the nation, gardeners are planning Bicentennial Flower Beds. Following are recommended flowers, instructions and design for the nationally adopted Bicentennial Flower Bed.

Selecting Flowers

First, the Bicentennial Flower Bed should be planted with short, stocky plants that are thickly branched and ready to begin blooming. Get them from a reliable source.

Annual flowers recommended for the bed require full sun. Plant after the last damaging frost in the spring. Select a location that will receive at least 6 hours of sunlight per day. Plants will grow with less sunlight but will not bloom well.

Plants recommended for the Bicentennial Flower Bed are:

RED AREA

Salvia: St. John's Fire has an average height of 12 inches and blooms mid-May through September. Another is Red Sentinel, which averages 16 inches in height and blooms from April through September.

Begonia: New Red Wonder averages 12 inches in height and blooms in full sun from April through August. Red Tausendschoen averages 6 to 10 inches in full bloom and tolerates slight shade. It blooms from April through August.

Geranium: Carefree Crimson averages 15 inches in height and does not require pinching. It blooms April through October. Nittany Lion Red has an average height of 15 inches with single, scarlet flowers; blooms from April through October.

WHITE AREA

Alyssum: Tiny Tim averages 3 inches in height, is very compact and blooms April through August.

Vinca: Little Bright Eye averages 10 inches high, has sparkling white flowers with a bright eye, and blooms continuously from late April through summer—in full sun.

Petunia: Bridal Bouquet, Glacier, Alaska, LaPaloma, White Cascade, White Magic and Polar Cap, all bloom from April through August.

Dusty Miller: Silver Dust averages 8 inches high, has no bloom but the foliage is grayish white.

BLUE AREA

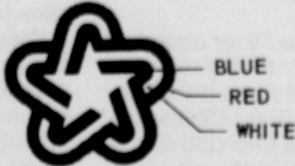

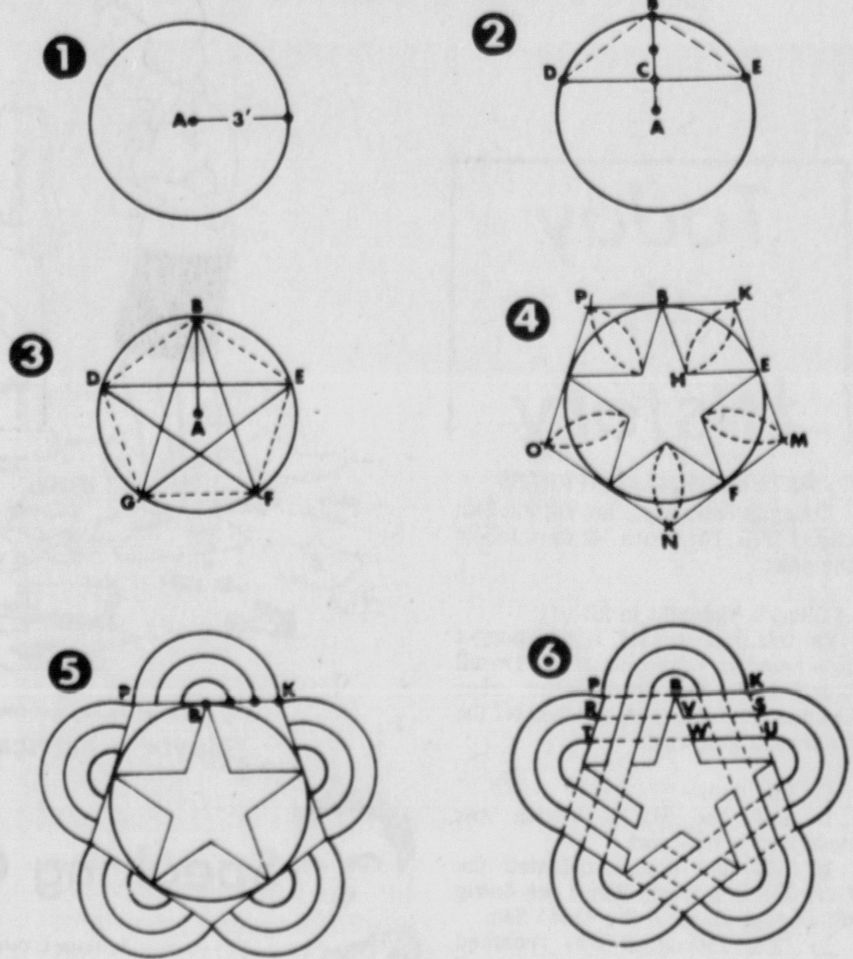

Ageratum: Blue Blazer averages 6 to 8 inches in height. Flowers cover over for continuous bloom from April through August. Blue Mink averages 12 inches in height, is uniform in growth habit and blooms from April through August.

Constructing the Flower Bed

1. Drive a stake in the ground in the center of the flower bed area (A). Tie a piece of string loosely to the stake. Measure off 3 feet of string from the stake and tie a stick at this point. Pulling the string taut, use the stick to draw a complete circle. This circle should be about 6 feet in diameter. The completed flower bed will be about 10 to 12 feet. For a larger or smaller bed, change the diameter of the circle.

2. Draw a line from the center (A) to the top of the circle (B). This will be the top point of the star. Divide this line (A-B) into thirds. At the lower third (C), draw a line (D-E) at right angle to line A-B. To be sure you have located points D and E correctly, stretch a piece of string between points B and E. Between points B and D. They should be of the same distance.

3. To locate points F and G, use the same length of string you measured from B to E. Hold one end at Point E. Stretch the other end to where it will contact the lower part of the circle. This will be point F. Find point G by stretching the string from D to the lower part of the circle. You now have the five points of the star. They should Continue this process till you have marked points N, O, and P. Draw lines between these points.

5. You are now ready to draw the arches. Start by dividing the distance from B to K into thirds. Drive a stake into the ground at point B and tie a string around it. Stretch the string to point K and tie a stick at the point. Pulling the string taut, use the stick to draw a half circle from each of the two points marked along line B-K to line B-P. Make arches this same way on each side of the pentagon.

6. It might be helpful now to rub out all the lines except the arches, the pentagon, and the outside lines of the star.

Use string as a guide to draw the final lines in the flower bed design. Stretch string between corresponding points of the arches (R to S, T to U). However, draw lines only from the right side of the star to the arch on the right (V to S, W to U). Do this on the other four sides. Now rub out lines P-B and V-W. Outbreaks Of Flu Seen

ATLANTA (AP)—The first cases of influenza in the continental United States this season were reported today by the national Center for Disease Control.

Outbreaks were reported in Minnesota and Oregon and isolated cases were noted in California.

The CDC said, however, there is no reason to expect major outbreaks of flu in the United States this winter.

"If there were going to be major outbreaks, we would have had some indication much earlier in the season," the spokesman said. "Although flu is unpredictable, it is unlikely that there will be any major outbreaks this winter."

The spokesman said indicators such as absenteeism among school children and factory workers implies no major outbreaks.

A Page Of Opinion

Our Own State Of Union Talk

The President's State of the Union message has fallen into one of the two categories intrinsic with our nation.

The speech centered on remedies for our national ailments, with Social Security hikes, both in benefits and in the taxes to pay for them and a tax break, from which can be taken the higher Social Security taxes.

Most State of the Union speeches have one of two themes: "Things are lousy but we're going to make them better" or "Things are great, thanks to us."

We would like to have an honest speech for once, with the following suggested as a model:

"Your government has made great strides in the past year in taking away more individual initiative and freedom from you. Our regulatory agencies have promulgated more rules to cost you heavily, from pollution to truck rates.

"Taxes are going to go nowhere but up as we continue to move to a socialistic society in which Big Brother will take care of you from the cradle to the grave. That is, until the whole house of cards collapses. But we hope to be out of office and long gone by that time.

"We anticipate an intensive effort to buy votes this year with bigger and bigger programs and giveaways. We have cleverly arranged it so the massive tax hike to pay for them won't take effect until after the elections.

"Unemployment will continue to rise as jobs are taken away because corporations are snowed under with federal rules and costly and unnecessary changes mandated by our bureaucrats. But don't worry, we'll pay you more to sit and do nothing than you could make by honest work.

"All in all, we see a great future for this free nation of ours."

What chance do we have of seeing such a speech? None.

Johnny Can't Spell

By PHYLLIS BATTELE
NEW YORK — American educators constantly are lamenting that "Johnny can't read" and "Johnny can't add" and worse — horrors — "Johnny can't spell."

It's come to the embarrassing point when poor little John, if permitted to express his shame, might note: "I apparently can't do anything write!"

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Whether we should have an open or a closed society is now one of those enormous ideological themes that now and then moves from the world of academe directly into the daily public debate.

The nation's banks, traditionally an area of discreet privacy, have suddenly found themselves the subject of news stories.

There was a report Thursday that a dozen of the nation's 50 largest bank holding companies are on the Federal Reserve Board's "problem list." Another recent news story said the nation's second and third largest banks, First National City and Chase Manhattan, are on a similar list of the Comptroller of the Currency.

There are those in government and in the banking industry who claim such publicity is not in the public interest. It all amounts to part of a larger debate on the place of secrecy in our society.

There are those, for example, who say the nation's intelligence operations should be an open book, to be read for profit not only by insiders but by the general public and potential adversaries too.

And there is a school that defends intelligence secrecy as the only way to protect a society we call free and open from blundering into mistakes that, it is feared, could undermine every other lofty idea.

Data, facts and activities that once were withheld "in the public interest" have now been pried loose from the Internal Revenue Service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the business establishment, the investment community, the White House and other institutions and are now public knowledge.

A Freedom of Information Act prevents government from withholding certain information. And public interest groups now employ staffs whose job is to open up the system to examination and use by the public.

In almost all instances the prying has revealed information that many people consider shocking, and therefore each inquiry seems to generate another. And now the pressure is on the banks.

Disclosure of information about the nation's banking system always has been handled with great sensitivity, restraint and secrecy, the rationale being that public confidence must be maintained even if problems are hidden.

Asked if recent disclosures of sometimes shaky finances, poor judgment and questionable management practices in banking has hurt rather than helped the country, a member of the Federal Reserve Board privately suggested the public was hurt.

The news media, he said, has made it more difficult for banks to lend. If they know that reports of their internal activities will be scrutinized by the public rather than restricted to certain federal officials, they will be reluctant to make some loans. And, he concluded, the economy will be hurt. But, he was asked, didn't the massive loan losses incurred by some banks lead to higher interest rates? Didn't banks cover their losses by raising prices? And therefore, wasn't the public damaged?

He agreed. But he went on to say the media remains at fault because of what he called its "snapshot" views of highly technical, complicated and changing matters. The story is a continuing one, he said, and requires a series of pictures.

That suggestion appears likely to be followed up, partly because congressional interest also is aroused in what goes on in the private world of high finance, where little is done that does not have a public impact.

should be able to spell English. But don't let them kid you. It's not that easy.

According to a fellow named Duncan Steck, a public relations man for the Merriam people who make the Webster's Dictionaries, many of our common, allegedly English words are actually misspelled to begin with. Our forefathers "shamelessly borrowed" them from faraway lands such as Tamil and the Tonga Islands and Kongo. Since our forefathers couldn't spell very well either, the words were corrupted and cut up and twisted around, and then inserted into spelling books to confound future generations like yours.

Take the word "raccoon," which Johnny who can't spell would prefer not to take at all. Why should it have two "c's"? Well, kids, it has two "c's" because the first English settlers in America saw this little animal rustling through their garbage, and asked the Algonquin Indians what it was called. The Indians said it was an "arahkun" — and the settlers wrote it down as "raccoon." Talk about your phonetic stupidity.

Consider the word "catsup," which some people spell "ketchup" and Johnny spells "catchup." This word was robbed from the Malayan "kechap," which is the one spelling nobody ever uses. And it originally meant "spiced fish sauce," which is the kind of sauce it certainly is not.

"Coffee" is another of those double-vowel, double-consonant zingers that make second graders drop out. According to Webster's Seventh New Collegiate, "coffee" comes from the Italian "caffee," which derives from the Turkish "kahve" which, in turn, comes from the Arabic "quahwah." Quite a trip. The word has been fouled up by illiterates all along the line.

To be kind to the persons who created the English language, let's concede that perhaps they were hard of hearing rather than moronic. For instance, the word "goulash" is from a Hungarian word "gulyas," meaning herdsman's stew. And our word "pal" is from the Romany "Phal," meaning brother or friend. It is possible, in such cases, that some elderly scholar trying to write an English dictionary just didn't hear the words correctly. Let's give them the benefit of the doubt.

But there is no reason, Johnny, why you shouldn't spell "penguin" any old way you want to. That's what our forefathers did when they decided, rather arbitrarily, to make it "penguin" — even though it's really a Welsh phrase "pen gwyn," meaning white head.

And don't let them flunk you for misspelling "tattoo" (the Tahitians called it "tatau," but those early Englishmen didn't listen). And if they gave you bad marks for your interpretation of "bamboo," advise the teachers that the word is an illegitimate theft from the Tahitians, who spelled it "bambu." So there! (By the way, be sure you don't say "So there!" Nothing infuriates an English teacher more than the possessive "their" being used in place of the interjection "there" — although, technically, the spelling should be "thoer," as its originators in merrie Olde England intended.)

To sum up: it would seem that if Johnny can't spell, he should be treated with tolerance, as were our forefathers who managed — through ignorance or faulty hearing or possibly a don't-give-a-damn-attitude — to take the language of other cultures and translate it from primitive to difficult.

As for the "Johnny can't add" problem, let's blame it on Mother Nature. Without the foresight to predict a complex, computerized world, she gave him only 10 fingers. . .

The total Indian population of Ohio at the beginning of the Revolutionary War has been estimated at only about 6,000, which was one Indian to every seven square miles. No census was ever taken but other historians have estimated that Ohio's Indian population never exceeded 15,000.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Three school superintendents confronted with teacher strikes this school year predict there will be more.

Supts. Lester L. Grile, Fort Wayne; Robert N. Powell, Jennings County, and Gary L. Weesner, Marion, spoke Thursday at the Indiana Association of Public School Superintendents meeting.

In a panel discussion, they criticized the Indiana Education Employment Relations Board for its fact-finding reports and Gov. Otis R. Bowen for not enforcing the law barring strikes by teachers. They also noted opposition to Bowen's endorsement of open-scope bargaining.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I treasure the many letters I receive from your readers. I am impressed by the interest that high school students show in biology and general science.

These young, fertile minds flourish on the encouragement given them by educators and parents. Their pattern of intellectual growth depends on the stimulation they receive. Their interest in the biological sciences can lead to the study of medicine.

Another group of letters is distressing.

Some young people seem to believe that I am carrying on a personal vendetta against them by my repeated emphasis on the dangers of marijuana.

They also suggest that I am in collusion with their parents against them, for many parents point to my columns and use them to persuade their children that marijuana can be hazardous.

Some letters confuse the issues by insisting that the legal penalty for the use of marijuana is unfair and should be eliminated.

Once again, I want to clarify very definitely some of these issues. As a physician, I am concerned primarily about the health hazards of cannabis, the all-inclusive term for marijuana and its related substances.

As a thinking being I, too, am concerned about the excessive legal penalties imposed for the possession of this drug. I am certain that legislators will soon modify their attitudes.

As a concerned physician and a concerned parent, I cannot deny that scientific truth that marijuana, in any form, is dangerous to the lungs and can cause impairment of fertility and reproduction in men and women.

It is now known that the sperm count in young men who use marijuana is definitely reduced. It is firmly established that the capacity of the body to protect itself against infections is threatened by the use of marijuana. The total immune system of the body is harmed by this drug.

And every day, as scientific studies progress, the medical literature reveals more information on the danger of marijuana.

Subtle chemical imbalances are found to take place in heavy smokers of marijuana. Since these are not clearly apparent to the smoker their harm is casually overlooked.

Alteration in the functioning of the brain, lowering of the reflexes, cancerous degeneration of the inner lining of the lungs, changes in sexual potency and infertility are but some of the dangers of marijuana smoking.

There is ample justification for the concern of parents, educators and scientists about the cannabis epidemic that is threatening the health of the world.

Seminole Indians Sell Florida To Government For $16 Million

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The Seminole Indians, forced off their tribal lands by U.S. troops more than 100 years ago and pressing their claims ever since, have agreed to sell Florida.

About 300 members of the tribe voted overwhelmingly Thursday to accept $16 million from the federal government as compensation to the 4,000 to 12,000 modern-day Seminoles for 32 million acres of land covering nearly the entire peninsula.

The Seminoles originally sought $47 million for about 40 million acres, and Chief Howard Tommie said the final offer was "nowhere near what the land is worth."

"But if we try to press it and the mood of the government changes, we could be left without a dime. Our lawyers say this is the best we can do. Who has another 25 years to fight?"

The offer, accepted after myriad legal battles since 1949, amounts to about 50 cents an acre for land that includes Miami Beach, Disney World and Cape Canaveral.

The land was seized by Gen. Andrew Jackson during the Seminole Wars of 1823 and 1832 and under the Indian Removal Act of 1840. Appraisers said the land was then worth three cents to $2.50 an acre.

The federal government earlier rejected Seminole claims to land above the Old Spanish Road between St. Augustine and Pensacola and other areas covered by old Spanish land grants.

Only eight votes were cast against the final settlement at the packed meeting Thursday night conducted in three languages — Miccosukee, the Seminole language; Creek, a related language some Seminoles speak; and English.

Tommie warned that it could be years before tribal members get their money.

The settlement must be reviewed by the U.S. Indian Claims Commission, the money must be appropriated by Congress and the payment must be divided among Seminoles in Florida and in Oklahoma.

Nursing Homes Face Shutdown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Health Director John H. Ackerman said today action was under way to revoke the licenses of 400 nursing homes, mostly for failing to comply with fire prevention regulations.

The state fire marshal's office reported in its latest figures that only 308 of Ohio's 882 nursing homes were in full compliance with state law requiring homes to be equipped with sprinkler systems. Another 149 homes had sprinklers installed with minor deficiencies.

A second deadline for compliance with the 1972 fire safety law passed on Jan. 1.

Ackerman noted that many of the revocation proceedings were initiated last year. Nineteen homes have already been stripped of their licenses, he said, and another 23 closed before proceedings were completed.

"In spite of the high number of violations of the sprinkler law," Ackerman said he did not expect "a drastic reduction of nursing home beds in the state." He noted a net gain of 60,991 beds last year.

Revocation proceedings are lengthy and involve an appeals process that can delay an actual shutdown for months.

Salt Short In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — It's been a very salty winter and the end is nowhere in sight.

Ohio Department of Transportation officials said Thursday the five state garages in Cuyahoga County are running short of salt because of the continuing wintry weather.

Frank Ballenger, state engineer in charge of snow removal and salting for Cuyahoga County, said, "We've come very close to running out. The demand has been greater than the supply coming in. Because of the continuous snow, we've never been able to keep our supply up."

A spokesman at a state garage on the west side of Cleveland reported it received a 250-ton salt shipment Wednesday but used it all within 24 hours.

Ballenger said the shrinking stockpiles have forced salting cutbacks on low priority roads. Less salt has been applied to some ramps and roads in order to save it for hazardous stretches and intersections, he added.

Three Lake County garages were without salt for a week but received 80 tons of it Thursday. County trucks sprinkled cinders instead of salt during the past week.

They'll Do It Every Time

A Page Of Opinion

Our Own State Of Union Talk

The President's State of the Union message has fallen into one of the two categories intrinsic with our nation.

The speech centered on remedies for our national ailments, with Social Security hikes, both in benefits and in the taxes to pay for them and a tax break, from which can be taken the higher Social Security taxes.

Most State of the Union speeches have one of two themes: "Things are lousy but we're going to make them better" or "Things are great, thanks to us."

We would like to have an honest speech for once, with the following suggested as a model:

"Your government has made great strides in the past year in taking away more individual initiative and freedom from you. Our regulatory agencies have promulgated more rules to cost you heavily, from pollution to truck rates.

"Taxes are going to go nowhere but up as we continue to move to a socialistic society in which Big Brother will take care of you from the cradle to the grave. That is, until the whole house of cards collapses. But we hope to be out of office and long gone by that time.

"We anticipate an intensive effort to buy votes this year with bigger and bigger programs and giveaways. We have cleverly arranged it so the massive tax hike to pay for them won't take effect until after the elections.

"Unemployment will continue to rise as jobs are taken away because corporations are snowed under with federal rules and costly and unnecessary changes mandated by our bureaucrats. But don't worry, we'll pay you more to sit and do nothing than you could make by honest work.

"All in all, we see a great future for this free nation of ours."

What chance do we have of seeing such a speech? None.

Johnny Can't Spell

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — American educators constantly are lamenting that "Johnny can't read" and "Johnny can't add" and worse — horrors — "Johnny can't spell."

It's come to the embarrassing point when poor little John, if permitted to express his shame, might note: "I apparently can't do anything write!"

(cq)

But hang in there, kid. It may be that you are no more dense than the folks who created much of our so-called "English" language. In school they tell you that most of those words you can't spell are easy to master because they have a root in Latin or French — the implication being that gee, if you know your Latin and French, then you should be able to spell English. But don't let them kid you. It's not that easy.

According to a fellow named Duncan Steek, a public relations man for the Merriam people who make the Webster's Dictionaries, many of our common, allegedly English words are actually misspelled to begin with. Our forefathers "shamelessly borrowed" them from faraway lands such as Tamil and the Tonga Islands and Kongo. Since our forefathers couldn't spell very well either, the words were corrupted and cut up and twisted around, and then inserted into spelling books to confound future generations like yours.

Take the word "raccoon," which Johnny who can't spell would prefer not to take at all. Why should it have two "c"s? Well, kids, it has two "c"s because the first English settlers in America saw this little animal rustling through their garbage, and asked the Algonquin Indians what it was called. The Indians said it was an "arakhun" — and the settlers wrote it down as "raccoon." Talk about your phonetic stupidity.

Consider the word "catsup," which some people spell "ketchup" and Johnny spells "catchup." This word was robbed from the Malayan "kechap," which is the one spelling nobody ever uses. And it originally meant "spiced fish sauce," which is the kind of sauce it certainly is not.

"Coffee" is another of those double-vowel, double-consonant zingers that make second graders drop out. According to Webster's Seventh New Collegiate, "coffee" comes from the Italian "caffee," which derives from the Turkish "kahve" which, in turn, comes from the Arabic "quahwah." Quite a trip. The word has been fouled up by illiterates all along the line.

To be kind to the persons who created the English language, let's concede that perhaps they were hard of hearing rather than moronic. For instance, the word "goulash" is from a Hungarian word "gulyas," meaning herdsman's stew. And our word "pal" is from the Roman "Phal," meaning brother or friend. It is possible, in such cases, that some elderly scholar trying to write an English dictionary just didn't hear the words correctly. Let's give them the benefit of the doubt.

But there is no reason, Johnny, why you shouldn't spell "penguin" any old way you want to. That's what our forefathers did when they decided, rather arbitrarily, to make it "penguin" — even though it's really a Welsh phrase "pen gwyn," meaning white head.

And don't let them flunk you for misspelling "tattoo" (the Tahitians called it "tatau," but those early Englishmen didn't listen). And if they gave you bad marks for your interpretation of "bamboo," advise the teachers that the word is an illegitimate theft from the Tahitians, who spelled it "bambu." So there! Nothing infuriates an English teacher more than the possessive "their" being used in place of the interjection "there" — although, technically, the spelling should be "thoer," as its originators in merrie Olde England intended.)

CLEVELAND (AP) — It's been a very salty winter and the end is nowhere in sight.

Jaycee Wives Organized In 1953

The Jaycee Wives have been an integral part of the total organization for 23 years.

The Wives were organized Jan. 12, 1953 and charter members of the group include: Pat Frericks, Ann Hennis, Marki May, Carolyn McCoy, Marjorie Porter, Marilyn Steele, Mary Jane Skinner, Jane Wilson and Virginia Wilson.

The first officers of the organization were: Mrs. Virginia Wilson, president; Mrs. Frericks, vice president; Mrs. McCoy, secretary; Mrs. Skinner, treasurer.

In addition to helping the Jaycees with their many fund raising and community programs, the Wives have their own activities.

For the past several years the Wives have helped provide refreshments for everyone participating in the Cancer Society Bike-A-Thon. With the cooperation of several local merchants, the members prepare and distribute the refreshments. In addition the organization sponsored a rider this past year.

The Beef For A Buck fund raising raffle was originally conceived by Steve Barthelmas who generously donated a side of beef to the club. George Bowling of Eyerman Company donated the processing and the wives sold the raffle tickets. Proceeds are used to buy food and presents for the wives adopted family.

The Wives had collected toys, clothing and miscellaneous items for Operation Rudolph for the past two years. This year the club contributed wrapping paper and wrapped articles for the project.

The Jaycees Wives also sponsored a Christmas party for the children in Head Start. Members of the club baked Christmas cookies and provided the punch for the party. A Christmas story was read to the children, the wives joined in playing games and singing Christmas Carols with the children. They also donated gifts which were given to each child.

With the assistance of the Pickaway County Community Action, the Jaycees began an "Adoptive Family Program."

Each wife donates two canned goods at every monthly meeting. The club purchases a roast, ham or other meat to fill the food box for the family. At Christmas small gifts are purchased for all members of the family and birthday gifts are also purchased for the children.

The food box is delivered once a month. This is the first year for the adoptive family program.

At Pumpkin Show the Jaycee Wives joined in the festivities by making hanging baskets of various colors and orange beanie's with green ties and stems to be sold during the event. The money received is used throughout the year in various community projects.

Various groups and organizations that the Circleville Jaycee Wives have sent donations to in the past are:

YMCA Day Camp, Berger Hospital Fund, Hedges House, Easter Seals, Junior Women's Outdoor Conservation Lab, Children's Services and Brooks-Yates School.

This past year for the first time the Jaycee Wives assisted their husbands in Jerry Lewis the Muscular Dystrophy Telethon over the Labor Day Weekend.

The internal projects of the Jaycee Wives Club have been the semi annual awards, a Christmas Party for their own children, designing a banner for the club, revision of the constitution. This year for the first time they became affiliated with the State Jaycee Wives organization.

In existence since 1953, the Wives Club has basically the same aim and purpose today that it did when created —continuing to promote a good feeling of friendship and to serve the community.

The officers for 1975-76 are Terry Conley, president; Cindy Gilmore, vice president; Debbie Boyer, secretary; Rosemary Marshall, treasurer.

BancOhio Earnings Up

BancOhio Corporation today announced that 1975 operating earnings were $24,045,000 or $3.29 per share, representing a 6 per cent increase over the 1974 operating earnings of $22,716,000 or $3.11 per share.

For the year 1975, BancOhio reported net income, after securities transactions, of $24,674,000 or $3.24 per share compared to $27,201,000 or $3.72 per share for the year 1974. Net income for 1974 included a non-recurring amount of 85 cents per share representing the cumulative effect on prior years of changing the income recognition method on installment loans.

John L. Burgoon, BancOhio's senior vice president, said that the 1975 record high earnings were primarily due to a significant improvement in interest margins and were achieved despite an increase of $5,152,000 in the provision for loan losses.

Fourth quarter 1975 operating earnings, when $4,023,000 for loan loss provision was charged against income, amounted to $6,003,000 or 82 cents per share as compared to $6,249,000 or 85 cents per share reported for the fourth quarter of 1974. BancOhio's fourth quarter net income was $6,324,000 or 87 cents per share in 1975 versus $6,477,000 or 88 cents per share in 1974.

Directors of BancOhio, January 21, declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 30 cents per share, payable March 10, to shareholders of record February 20.

The Second National Bank of Circleville is a BancOhio affiliate.

Jaycee Wives Organized In 1953

The Jaycee Wives have been an integral part of the total organization for 23 years.

The Wives were organized Jan. 12, 1953 and charter members of the group include: Pat Frericks, Ann Hennis, Marki May, Carolyn McCoy, Marjorie Porter, Marilyn Steele, Mary Jane Skinner, Jane Wilson and Virginia Wilson.

The first officers of the organization were: Mrs. Virginia Wilson, president; Mrs. Frericks, vice president; Mrs. McCoy, secretary; Mrs. Skinner, treasurer.

In addition to helping the Jaycees with their many fund raising and community programs, the Wives have their own activities.

For the past several years the Wives have helped provide refreshments for everyone participating in the Cancer Society Bike-A-Thon. With the cooperation of several local merchants, the members prepare and distribute the refreshments. In addition the organization sponsored a rider this past year.

The Beef For A Buck fund raising raffle was originally conceived by Steve Barthelmas who generously donated a side of beef to the club. George Bowling of Eyerman Company donated the processing and the wives sold the raffle tickets. Proceeds are used to buy food and presents for the wives adopted family.

The Wives had collected toys, clothing and miscellaneous items for Operation Rudolph for the past two years. This year the club contributed wrapping paper and wrapped articles for the project.

The Jaycees Wives also sponsored a Christmas party for the children in Head Start. Members of the club baked Christmas cookies and provided the punch for the party. A Christmas story was read to the children, the wives joined in playing games and singing Christmas Carols with the children. They also donated gifts which were given to each child.

With the assistance of the Pickaway County Community Action, the Jaycees began an "Adoptive Family Program."

Each wife donates two canned goods at every monthly meeting. The club purchases a roast, ham or other meat to fill the food box for the family. At Christmas small gifts are purchased for all members of the family and birthday gifts are also purchased for the children.

The food box is delivered once a month. This is the first year for the adoptive family program.

At Pumpkin Show the Jaycee Wives joined in the festivities by making hanging baskets of various colors and orange beanie hats and stems to be sold during the event. The money received is used throughout the year in various community projects.

Various groups and organizations that the Circleville Jaycee Wives have sent donations to in the past are:

YMCA Day Camp, Berger Hospital Fund, Hedges House, Easter Seals, Junior Women's Outdoor Conservation Lab, Children's Services and Brooks-Yates School.

This past year for the first time the Jaycee Wives assisted their husbands in Jerry Lewis the Muscular Dystrophy Telethon over the Labor Day Weekend.

The internal projects of the Jaycee Wives Club have been the semi annual awards, a Christmas Party for their own children, designing a banner for the club, revision of the constitution. This year for the first time they became affiliated with the State Jaycee Wives organization.

In existence since 1953, the Wives Club has basically the same aim and purpose today that it did when created —continuing to promote a good feeling of friendship and to serve the community.

The officers for 1975-76 are Terry Conley, president; Cindy Gilmore, vice president; Debbie Boyer, secretary; Rosemary Marshall, treasurer.

BancOhio Earnings Up

BancOhio Corporation today announced that 1975 operating earnings were $24,045,000 or $3.29 per share, representing a 6 per cent increase over the 1974 operating earnings of $22,716,000 or $3.11 per share.

For the year 1975, BancOhio reported net income, after securities transactions, of $24,674,000 or $3.24 per share compared to $27,201,000 or $3.72 per share for the year 1974. Net income for 1974 included a non-recurring amount of 85 cents per share representing the cumulative effect on prior years of changing the income recognition method on installment loans.

John L. Burgoon, BancOhio's senior vice president, said that the 1975 record high earnings were primarily due to a significant improvement in interest margins and were achieved despite an increase of $5,152,000 in the provision for loan losses.

Fourth quarter 1975 operating earnings, when $4,023,000 for loan loss provision was charged against income, amounted to $6,003,000 or 82 cents per share as compared to $6,249,000 or 85 cents per share reported for the fourth quarter of 1974. BancOhio's fourth quarter net income was $6,324,000 or 87 cents per share in 1975 versus $6,477,000 or 88 cents per share in 1974.

Directors of BancOhio, January 21, declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 30 cents per share, payable March 10, to shareholders of record February 20.

The Second National Bank of Circleville is a BancOhio affiliate.

Circleville Business And Professional Women's Club Held First Meet In 1923

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of histories of women's organizations in Pickaway County which will be published in The Herald during the observance of the 200th Anniversary of the birth of America, Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club. The National Federation of BPW was founded in 1919 and the Circleville Club in 1923.

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club was founded in 1919 at St. Louis, Missouri to meet the need for mobilized woman power during World War I. The goal then as now, a high standard of achievement for women in business and the professions and as citizens of the United States.

BPW is known as the largest all inclusive group of business and professional women in the world and the lead organization in the country protecting and promoting the economic interest of all women in the United States.

December 11, 1923 in the Post Room of Memorial Hall, the Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club held its first official session. Assessed dues were $2.00 per year. May 1924 the club voted to join the National Federation. Charter members were: Ida Graham, president; Irma Stevenson, vice-president; Esther Davidson (Mrs. Joe Work), treasurer; Helen Rowe, recording secretary; Marguerite Clark, corresponding secretary; Mary Howard, Blanche Motchman, Anna Chandler, Nellie Palm, Minnie Palm, Clara Southward, Agnes Butch, Mae Lowe, Mary Wilder, Mary Foresman, Charlotte Phelps, Ida B. Carr, and Mary G. Morris.

Through the years the four official aims and objectives have served as a general guide for planning, preparing, and evaluating: 1. To elevate the standards for women in business and the professions. 2. To promote the interests of business and professional women. 3. To bring about a spirit of cooperation among the business and professional women of the United States. 4. To extend opportunities to business and professional women through education along lines of industrial, scientific and vocational activities.

An emblem was designed to symbolize the Spirit of Progress to which the Federation is dedicated: —NIKE, the winged Victory of Samothrace, represented on the prow of a ship facing the waves with courage and victory, expresses forward movement and epitomizes the steady progress necessary for advancing women's place in the world; the torch is the symbol of leadership, wisdom and ideals; the wand heralds a new era of opportunity and equality to be achieved by the effort of health, harmony, and power; the ship of commerce suggests the entrance of women into business and professions and also is a symbol that into all lands a message must be sent with good will and friendly fellowship; the scroll is for achievements and a symbol of think and do leadership in promoting conditions assuring fullest possible opportunity. These five symbols cast in a circle of gold, the circle signifying endless harmony and loyalty to federation ideals, the initials NFBP-WC, and the founding date 1919 on the scroll, comprise the emblem.

Programs to support the action aims and objectives as well as the emblem symbols are developed through 11 committees: world affairs, civic participation, legislation, public relations, membership, finance, career advancement, federation-foundation, health and safety, publicity, and program. Education is one of the most important projects of the federation.

Through the years some of the projects and programs for social enrichment as well as adding to the treasury included: a garden party on the courthouse lawn, a chicken and waffle supper cooked and served by members in the club rooms in the Masonic Temple to an overflow crowd, a musical "Her Song," a cantata "The Rose Maiden," a musical play "Marcheta" presented two nights at The Grand Opera House, a comedy show, "Here To Hollywood," summer cottage rental, rummage sales, bake sales, card parties, sales of greeting cards as well as miscellaneous gift items, dime growth by member choice endeavors, donation or chance benefits, silent auctions, a business pageant given in Memorial Hall with most of the Circleville merchants represented in some manner.

A memory quilt which tells much local history is available for exhibit. This was made in 1927 and has 49 block centers representing hub and spokes of a wheel. The hub space was sold to local businesses or organizations and the spokes were sold to individuals representing the business or organization. All names were embroidered by members of the club.

Examples of projects and programs for reciprocal benefit: food baskets for needy families, social and guiding sessions for girl graduates of Pickaway County High Schools, money gifts or loans without interest for scholarships to girls found truly deserving, help with a 1926 picnic for inmates of Government Hospital 97 at Chillicothe, during 1930 furnished the office of the new Berger Hospital and folded bandages, assistance with various benefit drives, contributed to Circleville Christmas Lights, helped toward purchase of new uniforms for Circleville High School Band, baby sitter courses, WRAP courses, Women Responsible for Accident Prevention, sent gifts to Pickaway County residents at Athens State Hospital.

Examples of the most versatile talent finding and or demonstrating programs by members: A play "Charm Of Old Album," musical presentations such as whistling, vocal, and instrumental solos or duets and quartettes, April Fool's Party, book reviews, cooperative dinners or snacks, symposium, "Our Jobs," stunt sessions, and "My Funniest Experience".

Some of the educational programs by guest or member speakers: "Inter-City — '36," "Retrospect And Prospect '27," "Mind and Body" a '34 example of the annual Health and Safety Program, "We Oppose Discrimination" a '42 presentation by Vangie Campbell, "So Members May Know," "Boost Your Town," "Women Of Note From Our Community," "History Of Members Lives," "Club Confidence," "North American Indian," "Bee Man," "Butterflies And Moths," "Citizenship And The Crime Wave" by Mayor Fitzpatrick, "You Make Your Job" a '51 presentation by Elma Rains, and "The Little Red Schoolhouse" a '52 presentation by Peggy Parks Smith.

Through the years four meetings have been held at local business or industry establishments such as: banking, electric welding, electric refrigeration, greenhouse, meat train, dry cleaning, molded plastic products, telephone communication, credits and loans, and Industrial Commission. When a tour could not be arranged a representative visited the club as guest speaker.

During early years club rooms were maintained in the following places: Memorial Hall, Chamber of Commerce Bldg., Masonic Temple, Citizens Telephone Exchange, and Southern and Ohio Electric Company. As membership grew and style of meeting fluctuated, meeting places have been secured to suit the nature of the program.

Members serving as State Officers have been Mary Morris and Mary K. Kennedy and, as District Directors, Rose Good, Mary K. Kennedy, Clarissa Talbut, and Nancy Lu Conrad. Delegates have been sent to National Conventions at Portland, Maine; Mackinac Island, Mich.; Richmond, Va.; and Detroit, Mich.

At the July 1929 National Convention of Business and Professional Women's Clubs held at Mackinac Island, Mich., each State's delegation took part in a pageant of a noted woman. Ohio was represented by Non-Hel-E-Ma, a Grenadier Squaw. Anna Chandler, a Circleville Club delegate who had carefully studied this Indian woman, was chosen chairman for Ohio's part in the pageant. The part of the Grenadier Squaw was taken by Mrs. Chandler. Her council of Indians were Nancy VanRiper, Mary Morris, and Betty Morris of the Circleville Club and 14 women from various clubs in South Central Ohio. Non-Hel-E-Ma, the Grenadier Squaw is recognized as being the first Business and Professional Woman in Ohio, the ruler of her tribe. Her village was located on the banks of Scioto Creek in the Plains of Pickaway around the year 1774.

This 1929 presentation was considered by the National Federation audience as the most effective of any of the scenes given. The costumes were authentic Shawnee reproductions and made by Mrs. Chandler and several of the Circleville members.

In the following order 37 members have served as presiding officer of the Circleville Business and Professional Women's Club for a one or two year term since the 1923 beginning: Ida Graham, Mary Morris, Irma Stevenson, Esther Work, Mary Wilder, Anna Chandler, Helen Rowe, Elma Rains, Elizabeth Drum, Charlotte McEwing, Charlotte Phelps, Minnie Palm, Winnifred Given, Clara Southward, Mary Howard, Esther Work, Rose Good, Lucille Bostwick, Elizabeth Hilyard (now Mrs. Ralph Altmeyer), Harriett Henness, Anna Chandler, Vangie Campbell, Irma Stevenson, Mildred Beaver, Rose Good, Wilmina Phebus (now Mrs.

To extend opportunities to business and professional women through education along lines of industrial, scientific and vocational activities.

An emblem was designed to symbolize the Spirit of Progress to which the Federation is dedicated: —NIKE, the winged Victory of Samothrace, represented on the prow of a ship facing the waves with courage and victory, expresses forward movement and epitomizes the steady progress necessary for advancing women's place in the world; the torch is the symbol of leadership, wisdom and ideals; the wand heralds a new era of opportunity and equality to be achieved by the effort of health, harmony, and power; the ship of commerce suggests the entrance of women into business and professions and also is a symbol that into all lands a message must be sent with good will and friendly fellowship; the scroll is for achievements and a symbol of thought and leadership in promoting conditions assuring fullest possible opportunity. These five symbols cast in a circle of gold, the circle signifying endless harmony and loyalty to federation ideals, the initials NFBPW, and the founding date 1919 on the scroll, comprise the emblem.

Programs to support the action aims and objectives as well as the emblem symbols are developed through 11 committees: world affairs, civic participation, legislation, public relations, membership, finance, career advancement, federation-foundation, health and safety, publicity, and program. Education is one of the most important projects of the federation.

Through the years some of the projects and programs for social enrichment as well as adding to the treasury included: a garden party on the courthouse lawn, a chicken and waffle supper cooked and served by members in the club rooms in the Masonic Temple to an overflow crowd, a musical "Her Song," a cantata "The Rose Maiden," a musical play "Marcheta" presented two nights at The Grand Opera House, a comedy show, "Here To Hollywood," summer cottage rental, rummage sales, bake sales, card parties, sales of greeting cards as well as miscellaneous gift items, dime growth by member choice endeavors, donation or chance benefits, silent auctions, a business pageant given in Memorial Hall with most of the Circleville merchants represented in some manner.

A memory quilt which tells much local history is available for exhibit. This was made in 1927 and has 49 block centers representing hub and spokes of a wheel. The hub space was sold to local businesses or organizations and the spokes were sold to individuals representing the business or organization. All names were embroidered by members of the club.

Examples of projects and programs for reciprocal benefit: food baskets for needy families, social and guiding sessions for girl graduates of Pickaway County High Schools, money gifts or loans without interest for scholarships to girls found truly deserving, help with a 1926 picnic for inmates of Government Hospital 97 at Chillicothe, during 1930 furnished the office of the new Berger Hospital and folded bandages, assistance with various benefit drives, contributed to

When a tour could not be arranged a representative visited the club as guest speaker.

During early years club rooms were maintained in the following places: Memorial Hall, Chamber of Commerce Bldg., Masonic Temple, Citizens Telephone Exchange, and Southern and Ohio Electric Company. As membership grew and style of meeting fluctuated, meeting places have been secured to suit the nature of the program.

Members serving as State Officers have been Mary Morris and Mary K. Kennedy and, as District Directors, Rose Good, Mary K. Kennedy, Clarissa Talbut, and Nancy Lu Conrad. Delegates have been sent to National Conventions at Portland, Maine; Mackinac Island, Mich.; Richmond, Va.; and Detroit, Mich.

At the July 1929 National Convention of Business and Professional Women's Clubs held at Mackinac Island, Mich., each State's delegation took part in a pageant of a noted woman. Ohio was represented by Non-Hel-E-Ma, a Grenadier Squaw, a Circleville Club delegate who had carefully studied this Indian woman, was chosen chairman for Ohio's part in the pageant. The part of the Grenadier Squaw was taken by Mrs. Chandler. Her council of Indians were Nancy VanRiper, Mary Morris, and Betty Morris of the Circleville Club and 14 women from various clubs in South Central Ohio. Non-Hel-E-Ma, the Grenadier Squaw is recognized as being the first Business and Professional Woman in Ohio, the ruler of her tribe. Her village was located on the banks of Scioto Creek in the Plains of Pickaway around the year 1774.

This 1929 presentation was considered by the National Federation audience as the most effective of any of the scenes given. The costumes were authentic Shawnee reproductions and made by Mrs. Chandler and several of the Circleville members.

Toasting almonds, filberts and walnuts really brings out their flavor. Spread them in a single layer in a very shallow pan and use a moderate or a hot oven — but watch carefully so they do not scorch.

Plans for the conduct of an annual registration for those young men who turned 18 in 1975 have been postponed indefinitely, according to a statement issued today by the Acting Director of Selective Service for the state of Ohio, Col. John Akin, in Columbus. The necessity for postponement, at a time when nearly 100 per cent of the registration sites and fully 50 per cent of the necessary volunteers to register had been obtained through the fine cooperation of municipal and veterans organizations throughout the state, is caused by the recent proposal of the Office of Management and Budget to slash the operating funds for FY 77 for the Selective Service System from the current 37 1/2 million dollars to a mere six million.

Akin commented that such a reduction would totally suspend the capability of the System to register young men and have on standby a pool of registrants available for induction if needed under the total force concept.

The State Director expressed the hope that the Congress would reverse the proposed reduction and thereby guarantee for our nation a cornerstone of defense provided by the Selective Service System.

"The outstanding cooperation of the Ohio National Guard, the American Legion, the VFW, the school system and various local groups should not go unnoticed," Akin added. "The annual registration program would have been a complete success in Ohio because of the immediate response and dedication of volunteers throughout the state. Certainly this spirit of rapport between our employees, local board members and the many volunteers has illustrated the kind of dedication American communities offer in support of national patriotic programs."

The State Director noted that any change which may result from a review by Congress which offers the possibility of rescheduling the annual registration of young men will be brought to the attention of the public immediately.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Parents Won't Take This Lying Down

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl who is pretty good at solving problems, but I need help with this one.

One evening my parents walked into the front room and found my boyfriend and me lying on the couch. We were just talking.

Ever since then I have heard nothing but remarks like, "The next thing you know, he'll be on top of you!" And, "Don't ever do that again!"

Abby, I've never done anything that would cause them to not trust me, and this upsets my boyfriend and me.

Do you see anything wrong with two people lying on the couch and talking? What would you do if it were your daughter, and you had always been able to trust her?

JUST TALKING

DEAR JUST: I'd tell her that she'd be wise to keep both feet on the floor, and so would her boyfriend-talking in a sleeping position could lead to nightmares she never dreamed could happen. I'd say, "I still trust you, Honey, but people think better when they're sitting up."

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law is very sick and she's not expected to live much longer. Do I have to go to her funeral when she dies? It would take your entire column to tell you how much heartache she has caused me over the years because of vicious lies.

Her husband always took her part, so I never cared much for either of them.

Would it look terrible if I stayed home and my husband went to the funeral without me? He really doesn't want to go either, but we're afraid that if he doesn't go, the whole family will criticize us. On the other hand, if we both went, we would feel like a couple of hypocrites.

Thanks for any help you can give me.

DEBATING

DEAR DEBATING: Which could you live with more comfortably? Staying away and being criticized by the family? Or going, and feeling like a couple of hypocrites? The decision is yours.

DEAR ABBY: Possibly "Too D— Tall" (the gal who complained because she was 6 ft. tall) is looking for a man who is 6 ft. plus. However, one frequently sees tall women happily married to men who are shorter. One such couple is the famous composer and conductor, Johnny Green, and his beautiful statuesque wife, Bonnie.

If tall women would lower their level of vision, they might well find some very attractive, eligible men looking up at them with eager interest.

AN L.A. M.D.

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter in your column from Dr. Arnold Katz who described what had happened to a 16-month-old patient who discovered a bottle of lye, and ingested just one mouthful!

Being the grandmother of a curious toddler who visits me often, I stopped right then and inspected our home.

Abby, I couldn't believe the number of dangerous poisons and chemicals I had stored underneath my sink! And they could easily have been within the reach of our precious grandchild!

I immediately took your advice and put everything hazardous under lock and key. I can't thank you enough for printing that important warning.

TULSA GRANDMA
DEAR GRANDMA: Don't thank me. Thank Dr. Katz.

Do you see anything wrong with two people lying on the couch and talking? What would you do if it were your daughter, and you had always been able to trust her?

JUST TALKING

DEAR JUST: I'd tell her that she'd be wise to keep both feet on the floor, and so would her boyfriend—that talking in a sleeping position could lead to nightmares she never dreamed could happen. I'd say, "I still trust you, Honey, but people think better when they're sitting up."

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law is very sick and she's not expected to live much longer. Do I have to go to her funeral when she dies? It would take your entire column to tell you how much heartache she has caused me over the years because of vicious lies.

Her husband always took her part, so I never cared much for either of them.

Would it look terrible if I stayed home and my husband went to the funeral without me? He really doesn't want to go either, but we're afraid that if he doesn't go, the whole family will criticize us. On the other hand, if we both went, we would feel like a couple of hypocrites.

Thanks for any help you can give me.

DEBATING

DEAR DEBATING: Which could you live with more comfortably? Staying away and being criticized by the family? Or going, and feeling like a couple of hypocrites? The decision is yours.

DEAR ABBY: Possibly "Too D— Tall" (the gal who complained because she was 6 ft. tall) is looking for a man who is 6 ft. plus. However, one frequently sees tall women happily married to men who are shorter. One such couple is the famous composer and conductor, Johnny Green, and his beautiful statuesque wife, Bonnie.

If tall women would lower their level of vision, they might well find some very attractive, eligible men looking up at them with eager interest.

AN L.A. M.D.

DEAR M.D.: Well said.

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter in your column from Dr. Arnold Katz who described what had happened to a 16-month-old patient who discovered a bottle of lye, and ingested just one mouthful!

Being the grandmother of a curious toddler who visits me often, I stopped right then and inspected our home.

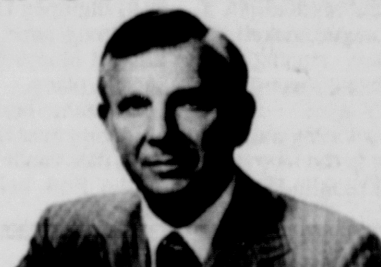

Abby, I couldn't believe the number of dangerous poisons and chemicals I had stored underneath my sink! And they could easily have been within the reach of our precious grandchild!

I immediately took your advice and put everything hazardous under lock and key. I can't thank you enough for printing that important warning.

TULSA GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Don't thank me. Thank Dr. Katz.

Circleville Tigers Hold Off Greenfield McClain, 58-52

A fine all-around performance by George Moore and a second half in which Greenfield was held to five baskets from the floor were the keys to Circleville's 58-52 victory over visiting Greenfield Friday night at the Mill Street gym.

The smooth operating Circleville center tallied 27 points in the contest, came up with five steals, pulled down 18 rebounds, didn't commit a turnover and held Greenfield's big man, Steve Harvey, to a total of nine points for the night.

"The key to the victory was the great overall play of George Moore and the fact that we were able to get the ball inside in the second half," Circleville coach Jim Bailey stated.

The first quarter belonged to Greenfield as Circleville scored on four out of 14 shots from the floor, two by Moore and two by Brent Mancini, and stepped to the foul line four times without rippling the nets once. The period ended with McClain holding a 14-8 advantage.

Moore, Biff Bumgarner and Mike McCoy began to find the range in the second period as they tallied all of the Red and Black points to gain a 28-28 tie at halftime.

A tip-in by Moore at 7:32 of the third frame gave the Red and Black a 30-28 edge and they never trailed again.

It was a rather unusual quarter as Circleville picked up a total of eight points with Moore getting two buckets and Bumgarner and Mancini each netting one.

But, even more unusual was the fact that Greenfield failed to score from the field in the period and only picked up five points on foul shots by Chris Nelson and Chuck Cole. Circleville led 36-33 at the conclusion of the canto.

It was a tight fourth period with Greenfield sticking to Circleville like peanut butter to the roof of a kid's mouth.

Circleville couldn't pull away but Greenfield couldn't quite catch up, although they pulled within two points with 40 seconds left to play.

But, Moore hit a pair of foul shots and Bumgarner duplicated the feat to give the Red and Black a big win and strengthen their hold on first place in the South Central Ohio League.

Bumgarner hit for 12 points in the winning cause, McCoy added 10, Mancini netted seven and Frank Merrill added two.

Nelson and Jim Jones paced Greenfield with 14 points apiece, Harvey tallied nine, Eric Dunson hooped eight, Cole netted four and Tim Dreher had three.

Circleville connected on 23 of 46 shots from the floor for 50 per cent but only managed to net 12 of 23 from the charity stripe for 52 per cent.

Greenfield came up with a 35 per cent average from the field as they hit 18 of 48 but converted 16 of 23 at the foul line for 70 per cent.

The Red and Black cagers dominated the boards as they pulled down 20 offensive rebounds and 25 defensive while Greenfield hauled in 12 offensive and 19 defensive missed shots.

Moore led the Tigers with 18 and Bumgarner grabbed 14 off the rim. Steve Harvey was the key man for the Greenfield cagers.

It was just about even in the turnover department as Circleville committed 18 and Greenfield 17.

Circleville is 10-1 for the season and 8-1 in SCOL play. They will travel to Logan Elm Tuesday night in a non league contest.

SUMMARY

CIRCLEVILLE — Bumgarner, 4-4-12; Moore, 11-5-27; Mancini, 3-1-7; McCoy, 5-0-10; Merrill, 0-2-2. Totals, 23-12-58.

Rangers Stun Teays Valley In 72-64 Metro League Win

FAST BREAK — David Schiff (34) fires a pass down the court to Charles Morrison (24) to start a Teays Valley fast break. Getting back quickly on defense for Hamilton Twp.

are Steve Dawson (43), Zack Scott (33), Jack Moore (21), and Mike Michael (11). The Rangers won the contest 72-64.

Hamilton Twp. all but snuffed out a third straight Metro League basketball title for Teays Valley, ripping the Vikings 72-64 with a strong second half rally Friday in the TV gym.

The loss locks Teays Valley and the Rangers in third place in the loop with matching 6-3 marks. Franklin Heights (9-0) thumped Dublin 63-33 to continue its strong pace, and Grandview (7-2) blasted Marysville 74-66 to remain in second place.

The game began much like TV's 71-69 victory over the Rangers Dec. 5. But the Vikes could never quite pull away in the first half as they did in the earlier contest.

Bob Hoover's Vikings led 16-14 after the first period, thanks to eight markers by Jeff Cauger, and held a two-point edge at the half, 33-31, thanks to eight second-period points by David Schiff.

But the Rangers broke open the hard-fought contest about midway through the third period and rolled to a seven point, 51-44 edge.

Zack Scott and Jack Moore paced the 20-point period with eight points each, while Schiff was the most effective Vike, canning six of his team's all pointers.

A hustling TV defense nearly pulled it out midway through the final period when Schiff and Cauger both netted two free throws each to cut the HT lead to 54-53.

But Hamilton rolled off nine straight free throws and two fast-break layups in the waning seconds to pull off the upset.

Moore, who scored 18 second-half points, was the leading scorer with 26 markers. John Motika hit for 18, Zack Scott had 14, Mike Michael netted eight, and Steve Dawson, Jeff Parent, and Robert Blocker scored two each.

Schiff, who netted 14 of his 23 points in the middle two periods, was the high pointman for Teays Valley. Cauger, the leading TV scorer in games played, hit 19 markers even though drawing the brunt of the HT defense. Tim Tosca scored eight points, Charles Morrison hit six, Jeff Voss had four, and Rusty Rathburn and Tim Trego had two each.

Hamilton Twp. canned 12 of 21 foul shots for a 57 per cent average, while the Vikes made 10 of 18 for 56 per cent.

Teays Valley will travel to Dublin Friday in an attempt to get back on the winning track against the Shamrocks. The Vikings are 7-5 on the year.

The Viking reserves also lost to Hamilton, falling 43-38 for only their second loss of the year.

Circleville will be back on the mats Wednesday when they host undefeated Worthington.

CHS Reserves Top McClain

Circleville's reserve cage squad came up with another of their patented heart-thumpers Friday night as they downed Greenfield, 48-43, at the Mill Street gym.

The CHS Tigers jumped out to a 13-5 lead at the end of the first period but ran into trouble in the second period and trailed 24-23 at halftime.

But, coach Dennis Stewart didn't allow his boys to panic and they played Greenfield on even terms in the third canto and trailed by one point, 34-33, at the buzzer.

In the final quarter, Circleville grabbed a 37-36 lead on a bucket by Dave Marshall with 4:30 to go and the Red and Black cagers were in front to stay, although Greenfield only trailed by two points with 34 seconds to play.

Greenfield picked up a single foul but Circleville countered with two foul shots by Mark Beck and Marshall put the game away.

Tim Milstead led Circleville with 14 points, Mike Brudzinski had 12, Mark Albright hooped seven, Toren Bensonhaver netted four, Roy Huffer, Dave Marshall and Mike Edgington each tallied three and Mark Beck netted two.

Jim Everhart paced Greenfield with 17 markers, Jim Thompson added nine, Dennis Crouse netted seven, Steve Wood tallied five, Steve Weaver hit three and Roy McCray had two.

Circleville is now 7-4 overall and holds down second place, behind Washington C.H., in the South Central Ohio League with a mark of 7-2.

Logan Elm Downs LU Lions, 59-54

Playing good basketball when they had to Friday, the Logan Elm Braves hung a 59-54 Mid State League loss on visiting Liberty Union to maintain a share of the conference basketball lead.

The Braves spotted Liberty Union to an 8-2 lead in the first four minutes of the game, then came back to trail only 12-10 at the end of the first quarter.

They opened the second quarter with eight unanswered points to take an 18-12 lead and were never behind after that although they were never able to put together a sustained drive they needed to put the game on ice.

At halftime LE led 30-25 and at the end of three periods by a 46-35 count. Their biggest lead was a 13-point spread late in the third period.

Mike Miller helped the Braves control the boards and scored 16 points, seven field goals and a pair of foul shots, in what Coach Asa Bradbury termed one of the best performances of the year for his 6-5 pivotman.

Also scoring in twin figures for LE was junior guard Mark Skinner who canned three field goals and four charity tosses for 10.

Starting forwards Chuck Cave and Jeff Reichelderfer evenly divided 18 points, each making four field goals and one foul shot to give Logan Elm strong support along the front line.

Scott Allen, the other starting guard, scored six markers. Randy Pontius came off the bench late in the fourth quarter, scoring two quick field goals and a foul shot to stave off a Liberty Union threat. Also giving the Braves good bench support was Steve Rawlins with four points.

Cave was the leading rebounder for Logan Elm, pulling twelve missed shots from the boards. Reichelderfer had six rebounds and Miller three. From the field, the Braves made 24 of 48 attempts, an even 50 per cent shooting accuracy.

At the foul line they connected on 11 of 17, a 64 per cent rate. They pulled down a total of 27 rebounds compared to 19 for the visitors, had 14 turnovers, compared to 13 for the Lions and had 16 assists in a good display of unselfish basketball.

The visitors made 21 of 47 shots from the field, a 45 per cent accuracy mark and 12 of 15 at the charity line, an 80 per cent mark.

For the visitors, Rudy Reed, a freshman, and Greg Taylor shared scoring honors with 17 points apiece.

Logan Elm has a 9-1 record in the Mid State League and is 10-3 overall. Liberty Union is 5-8 overall and 4-5 in the league.

"When it got close we were able to make the baskets tonight. We didn't lose our confidence and that's something we have been bothered with in close games before," Bradbury said. "It wasn't one of our best games but I thought we played well when we had to," according to the coach.

"I was real pleased with the way Randy Pontius came in and played with a lot of confidence. And Miller is getting better with every game."

Bradbury had a world of praise for Liberty Union's fine freshman, Rudy Reed. "We were really impressed with him. He is going to be a good one."

Looking ahead, the coach believes the Braves have the roughest part of their schedule to go. "We play Circleville Tuesday, at Fairfield Union Friday and at Pickerington the next Friday. We are looking forward to Circleville, but the emphasis has to be on the league. If we expect to win the title, we have to win our remaining four league games. Nobody is going to help us."

The Logan Elm reserves battled back from a 12-point deficit in the third quarter to tie their game at 38-38 at the end of regulation play only to lose, 47-43, in overtime.

For the little Braves, Mike Patrick scored four, Jeff Collins 10, Rock Huggins five, Doug Woods six, Jerry Scanlon eight, Tony Crist four and Lynn Strehle two and John Mettler four.

The Logan Elm reserves are 7-3 in the league and 9-4 overall. "We still have a shot at the league title," according to reserve coach Nick Damopoulos. He thinks every team in the league has lost at least two games.

SUMMARY

LOGAN ELM — Cave, 4-1-9; Reichelderfer, 4-1-9; Miller, 7-2-16; Allen, 3-0-6; Pontius, 2-1-5; Skinner, 3-4-10; Rawlins, 1-2-4. Totals, 24-11-59.

Logan Elm Downs LU Lions, 59-54

Playing good basketball when they had to Friday, the Logan Elm Braves hung a 59-54 Mid State League loss on visiting Liberty Union to maintain a share of the conference basketball lead.

The Braves spotted Liberty Union to an 8-2 lead in the first four minutes of the game, then came back to trail only 12-10 at the end of the first quarter.

They opened the second quarter with eight unanswered points to take an 18-12 lead and were never behind after that although they were never able to put together a sustained drive they needed to put the game on ice.

At halftime LE led 30-25 and at the end of three periods by a 46-35 count. Their biggest lead was a 13-point spread late in the third period.

Mike Miller helped the Braves control the boards and scored 16 points, seven field goals and a pair of foul shots, in what Coach Asa Bradbury termed one of the best performances of the year for his 6-5 pivotman.

Also scoring in twin figures for LE was junior guard Mark Skinner who canned three field goals and four charity tosses for 10.

Starting forwards Chuck Cave and Jeff Reichelderfer evenly divided 18 points, each making four field goals and one foul shot to give Logan Elm strong support along the front line.

Scott Allen, the other starting guard, scored six markers. Randy Pontius came off the bench late in the fourth quarter, scoring two quick field goals and a foul shot to stave off a Liberty Union threat. Also giving the Braves good bench support was Steve Rawlins with four points.

Cave was the leading rebounder for Logan Elm, pulling twelve missed shots from the boards. Reichelderfer had six rebounds and Miller three. From the field, the Braves made 24 of 48 attempts, an even 50 per cent shooting accuracy.

At the foul line they connected on 11 of 17, a 64 per cent rate. They pulled down a total of 27 rebounds compared to 19 for the visitors, had 14 turnovers, compared to 13 for the Lions and had 16 assists in a good display of unselfish basketball.

The visitors made 21 of 47 shots from the field, a 45 per cent accuracy mark and 12 of 15 at the charity line, an 80 per cent mark.

For the visitors, Rudy Reed, a freshman, and Greg Taylor shared scoring honors with 17 points apiece.

Logan Elm has a 9-1 record in the Mid State League and is 10-3 overall. Liberty Union is 5-8 overall and 4-5 in the league.

"When it got close we were able to make the baskets tonight. We didn't lose our confidence and that's something we have been bothered with in close games before," Bradbury said.

"It wasn't one of our best games but I thought we played well when we had to," according to the coach.

"I was real pleased with the way Randy Pontius came in and played with a lot of confidence. And Miller is getting better with every game."

Bradbury had a world of praise for Liberty Union's fine freshman, Rudy Reed. "We were really impressed with him. He is going to be a good one."

Looking ahead, the coach believes the Braves have the roughest part of their schedule to go. "We play Circleville Tuesday, at Fairfield Union Friday and at Pickerington the next Friday. We are looking forward to Circleville, but the emphasis has to be on the league. If we expect to win the title, we have to win our remaining four league games. Nobody is going to help us."

The Logan Elm reserves battled back from a 12-point deficit in the third quarter to tie their game at 38-38 at the end of regulation play only to lose, 47-43, in overtime.

For the little Braves, Mike Patrick scored four, Jeff Collins 10, Rock Huggins five, Doug Woods six, Jerry Scanlon eight, Tony Crist four and Lynn Strehle two and John Mettler four.

The Logan Elm reserves are 7-3 in the league and 9-4 overall. "We still have a shot at the league title," according to reserve coach Nick Damopoulos. He thinks every team in the league has lost at least two games.

In the second period, Terry Hanson started things off with a three-points

The Mustangs doubled the Red Streaks in scoring, 34-17 to take a 48-28 half-time margin.

Westfall widened their lead by two in the third canto as Chris Riddle and Mack Dick each scored five of a total 15 points and at the end of the buzzer it was 63-41.

Taking game laurels was the Mustangs' senior guard Terry Hanson, who collected three field goals and 12 of 13 free throw attempts, earning 18 points. Chris Riddle added 15, Kevin Reid netted 10, Neil Keller tallied eight, Jeff Karshner and Mack Dick each hooped seven, Bill Hamman hit six, Eric Schleich ripped four, Larry Bilek and John Long plunked in three apiece and John Schleich sank two.

L. Cutlip paced Piketon with 17 markers, M. Ramsey hit 15, J. Robbins and C. Osborne each added seven, R. Clayton sank five, T. Williams scored four, while B. Smith, H. Hartsock, G. Hartsock and J. Murray each sank a field goal.

The Mustangs shot 38.5 per cent from the field hitting on 25 of 65 attempts. The Red Streaks nearly equaled that, making 24 of 70 field goal shots for a 34 per cent average.

The Westfall cagers hit 33 of 46 tosses from the charity line for 71.8 per cent. But the Piketon lads could only muster 15 of 25 from the line of 60.0 per cent shooting average.

Rebounds were a definite factor too as Westfall pulled down 48 in the game compared to 34 for the Red Streaks. Jeff Karshner and Chris Riddle grabbed eight apiece from the boards, while Mack Dick, Kevin Reid and Larry Bilek each collected five.

Westfall had 20 turnovers while the Red Streaks misplayed the ball 29 times.

Mustang Coach Mike Eckle commented, "We made our foul shots for a change. The difference was, we cashed in on our one-and-one opportunities and they didn't. We played with much intensity and ran our offense well in the second quarter, when we scored 34 points, the most in one period all year."

"Terry Hanson did a heck of a job at the line, taking advantage of the press by drawing fouls. We got a good game out of Chris Riddle and our guards," the Mustang mentor said.

"Neil Keller, a junior, played his best game of the year. He played six minutes plus and made eight points a season high." All four juniors played well and our subs all had good games," Eckle stated.

Westfall also won the reserve game, holding off a last quarter Red Streak surge, 47-44.

The Mustangs led 14-13, 22-21, 36-31 and won 47-44.

Dave Hill Leads Bing Crosby Pro-Am

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A tip from golf Commissioner Deane Beaman helped provide Dave Hill with the second-round lead in the $185,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am.

But the price of the advice was high. It involves silence and compliance, neither of which comes easily to the outspoken, oftenfined, sometimes stormy Hill.

"We made a deal," Hill said after a record-matching, seven-under-par 65 had given him the halfway lead Friday in this unique event.

"He helps me. But the next time he fines me, I just pay it. Just send a check. I don't get to argue about it."

Hill's 65, which tied a 27-year-old course record at Cypress Point, was built around a string of five holes on which he was six under par, and it gave him a 36-hole total of 136.

That's eight under par, two in front of second-place David Graham of Australia and three clear of Jack Nicklaus and longshot Mike Morley.

"I've got to give credit to Deane," Hill said. "I spent about 15 minutes with him at Phoenix (last week). We used to practice together a lot when he was still out here playing. He knows my swing."

"He's very knowledgeable about the golf swing. He helped me. I'm still not comfortable, but that's the best I've played in a long time. I hit my irons awful good. I could have birdied at least three more holes."

The skinny, 38-year-old, 12-time tour winner, played his first nine holes one under par despite missing two birdie chances from six feet and two more from about 12-15 feet.

He hit an eight iron to three feet and birdied. He reached a par five in two and birdied. He lofted a soft seven iron 30 inches from the cup and birdied. He holed a 15-20 foot putt and birdied. And on the next hole a beautiful drive let him get home in two and he dropped a 75-80 foot eagle putt "that broke at least 10 feet."

Graham had another 69 that gave him a two-round total of 138. Nicklaus and Morley, who shared the first-round lead, matched par 72s and dropped back to third at 139.

A group of five followed at 142. Ben Crenshaw and former tennis pro Frank Conner had 67s. Bud Allin shot 68, Hubert Green 70 and Rik Massengale 71.

Aeros Beat Cowboys, 2-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Houston Aeros and Calgary Cowboys skated through a light workout in Houston Friday night with 12,622 fans and one referee in the audience.

The fans ate hot dogs, drank beer and chatted among themselves. The referee, Peter Moffat, didn't eat or drink or socialize, but he may as well have. Moffat didn't call a single penalty in the leisurely World Hockey Association game which Houston won 2-0.

"They (the Cowboys) played it tight with their checking," explained Aeros' Coach Bill Dineen. "That's their style and they stayed with it all night."

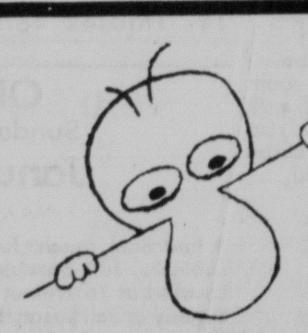

"The object of their game is to frustrate teams, but we didn't get frustrated. We kept right with them."

Elsewhere in the WHA, Indianapolis edged Cincinnati 4-3, San Diego blasted Minnesota 7-1, New England and Cleveland tied 2-2 and Winnipeg downed Edmonton 4-2.

When Oklahoma had its 28-game winning streak snapped in a 2-3 shocker at the hands of Kansas, Arkansas State took over the best on-going winning streak — 12 straight wins.

Dave Hill Leads Bing Crosby Pro-Am

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A tip from golf Commissioner Deane Beaman helped provide Dave Hill with the second-round lead in the $185,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am.

But the price of the advice was high. It involves silence and compliance, neither of which comes easily to the outspoken, oftenfined, sometimes stormy Hill.

"We made a deal," Hill said after a record-matching, seven-under-par 65 had given him the halfway lead Friday in this unique event.

"He helps me. But the next time he fines me, I just pay it. Just send a check. I don't get to argue about it."

Hill's 65, which tied a 27-year-old course record at Cypress Point, was built around a string of five holes on which he was six under par, and it gave him a 36-hole total of 136.

That's eight under par, two in front of second-place David Graham of Australia and three clear of Jack Nicklaus and longshot Mike Morley.

"I've got to give credit to Deane," Hill said. "I spent about 15 minutes with him at Phoenix (last week). We used to practice together a lot when he was still out here playing. He knows my swing."

"He's very knowledgeable about the golf swing. He helped me. I'm still not comfortable, but that's the best I've played in a long time. I hit my irons awful good. I could have birdied at least three more holes."

The skinny, 38-year-old, 12-time tour winner, played his first nine holes one under par despite missing two birdie chances from six feet and two more from about 12-15 feet.

He hit an eight iron to three feet and birdied. He reached a par five in two and birdied. He lofted a soft seven iron 30 inches from the cup and birdied. He holed a 15-20 foot putt and birdied. And on the next hole a beautiful drive let him get home in two and he dropped a 75-80 foot eagle putt "that broke at least 10 feet."

Graham had another 69 that gave him a two-round total of 138. Nicklaus and Morley, who shared the first-round lead, matched par 72s and dropped back to third at 139.

A group of five followed at 142. Ben Crenshaw and former tennis pro Frank Conner had 67s. Bud Allin shot 68, Hubert Green 70 and Rik Massengale 71.

Aeros Beat Cowboys, 2-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Houston Aeros and Calgary Cowboys skated through a light workout in Houston Friday night with 12,622 fans and one referee in the audience.

The fans ate hot dogs, drank beer and chatted among themselves. The referee, Peter Moffat, didn't eat or drink or socialize, but he may as well have. Moffat didn't call a single penalty in the leisurely World Hockey Association game which Houston won 2-0.

"They (the Cowboys) played it tight with their checking," explained Aeros' Coach Bill Dineen. "That's their style and they stayed with it all night."

"The object of their game is to frustrate teams, but we didn't get frustrated. We kept right with them."

Elsewhere in the WHA, Indianapolis edged Cincinnati 4-3, San Diego blasted Minnesota 7-1, New England and Cleveland tied 2-2 and Winnipeg downed Edmonton 4-2.

When Oklahoma had its 28-game winning streak snapped in a 23-3 shocker at the hands of Kansas, Arkansas State took over the best on-going winning streak — 12 straight wins.

Your Horoscope Television Schedule

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Weigh the value of all suggestions before accepting them, and don't fall for those who express their ideas in a loud or arrogant manner. They COULD be covering up their own doubts and insecurity.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Decisions made now will have great bearing on the outcome of plans for the future. Be careful, judicious — but not anxious!

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Generosity is one of the Gemini's outstanding traits, but don't go overboard in this respect now. A day for retrenching, reevaluation.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Meaningful mutual respect will engender some healthier cooperation between forces which should be working together. Demonstrate YOUR good faith.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Keep all avenues open for discussion, maneuverability. But only back what you conclude has good potential.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A good period for airing views, engaging in community affairs, scheduling group activities generally; also for intellectual pursuits.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): If faced with unexpected opposition, avoid antagonism and you can arrive at the necessary accord and worthwhile compromise. Here your innate poise can be a big aid.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Work on the knotty problems, but do not blow them out of proportion. Let incidents remain just that; concentrate on insuring good results in YOUR area.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Be prepared to withstand opposition, unexpected disturbances. You CAN settle matters — in a way which will win the admiration of others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Leave no loose ends in matters nearing completion, and don't start enterprises you may regret later. Look up past records, returns, in planning present procedures.

AQUARIUS (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Look well into proposed suggestions or you may find yourself involved where you least desire. Some definite "no" answers will be required.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20):

20: You don't need to look afar for best returns. They will come from within your immediate surroundings and, perhaps, through some "unlikely" persons. A good day!

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely ambitious and do not mind how difficult your road to progress as long as you feel you are really achieving but, if hampered in your efforts in any way, you really "go off the deep end," throw caution to the winds and drop whatever you are doing, regardless of consequences. You MUST avoid such impulsiveness. Learn self-mastery and self-discipline or you could lose out on some very fine opportunities. Generosity, strong-mindedness, idealism and love of justice are your outstanding characteristics. You are also intuitive, highly progressive and a born leader; could make a great success in music or literature. Birthdate of: Somerset Maugham, Brit. author.

Detroit Has 'Touch' Museum

DETROIT (AP) — Instead of a "hands off" approach, the $6.1-million Detroit Science Center here will adopt a "please touch" attitude with its feature exhibits.

Visitors to the center's Learning Lab will be invited to participate in demonstrations and the actual use of scientific equipment. The public may investigate principles of physics by using pulleys and examining the nature of human perception with exhibits of optical illusions, stereovision and sound. By stressing the participational aspect of the exhibits, the center aims at stimulating learning, understanding, creativity and an appreciation of science.

The facilities, which stand today on a 9,000-square-foot site in a former automobile show-room, eventually will be moved to a seven to eight-acre site near the central city. The expansion is being made possible in part by a $500,000 grant from the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration. More than 70 per cent of the $6.1-million building fund goal has been met, says its president Dexter Perry, with more than $700,000 coming from Detroit area business and industry.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Your Horoscope Television Schedule

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Weigh the value of all suggestions before accepting them, and don't fall for those who express their ideas in a loud or arrogant manner. They COULD be covering up their own doubts and insecurity.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Decisions made now will have great bearing on the outcome of plans for the future. Be careful, judicious — but not anxious!

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Generosity is one of the Gemini's outstanding traits, but don't go overboard in this respect now. A day for retrenching, reevaluation.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Meaningful mutual respect will engender some healthier cooperation between forces which should be working together. Demonstrate YOUR good faith.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Keep all avenues open for discussion, maneuverability. But only back what you conclude has good potential.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A good period for airing views, engaging in community affairs, scheduling group activities generally; also for intellectual pursuits.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): If faced with unexpected opposition, avoid antagonism and you can arrive at the necessary accord and worthwhile compromise. Here your innate poise can be a big aid.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Work on the knotty problems, but do not blow them out of proportion. Let incidents remain just that; concentrate on insuring good results in YOUR area.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Be prepared to withstand opposition, unexpected disturbances. You CAN settle matters — in a way which will win the admiration of others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Leave no loose ends in matters nearing completion, and don't start enterprises you may regret later. Look up past records, returns, in planning present procedures.

AQUARIUS (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Look well into proposed suggestions or you may find yourself involved where you least desire. Some definite "no" answers will be required.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20):

20): You don't need to look afar for best returns. They will come from within your immediate surroundings and, perhaps, through some "unlikely" persons. A good day!

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely ambitious and do not mind how difficult your road to progress as long as you feel you are really achieving but, if hampered in your efforts in any way, you really "go off the deep end," throw caution to the winds and drop whatever you are doing, regardless of consequences. You MUST avoid such impulsiveness. Learn self-discipline or you could lose out on some very fine opportunities. Generosity, strong-mindedness, idealism and love of justice are your outstanding characteristics. You are also intuitive, highly progressive and a born leader; could make a great success in music or literature. Birthdate of: Somerset Maugham, Brit. author.

Detroit Has 'Touch' Museum

DETROIT (AP) — Instead of a "hands off" approach, the $6.1-million Detroit Science Center here will adopt a "please touch" attitude with its feature exhibits.

Visitors to the center's Learning Lab will be invited to participate in demonstrations and the actual use of scientific equipment. The public may investigate principles of physics by using pulleys and examining the nature of human perception with exhibits of optical illusions, stereovision and sound. By stressing the participational aspect of the exhibits, the center aims at stimulating learning, understanding, creativity and an appreciation of science.

The facilities, which stand today on a 9,000-square-foot site in a former automobile show-room, eventually will be moved to a seven to eight-acre site near the central city. The expansion is being made possible in part by a $500,000 grant from the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration. More than 70 per cent of the $6.1-million building fund goal has been met, says its president Dexter Perry, with more than $700,000 coming from Detroit area business and industry.

Juvenile Court Judge Sends 2 Boys To Youth Commission

Two boys were ordered placed in the permanent custody of the Ohio Youth Commission this past week by juvenile court Judge Guy G. Cline. One of the youths was found guilty of car theft and the other, a 17-year-old Grove City boy, was found guilty of violation of probation and breaking and entering.

The court also heard nine other cases during the week including five traffic offenses and one adult case.

A 14-year-old Circleville boy, found guilty of possession of marijuana and violation of probation, was sentenced to 20 days detention. The court suspended 12 of the days and gave the boy credit for eight days he had spent in detention prior to his trial. Judge Cline also ordered that the youth remain on probation until his 18th birthday.

Petit theft charges brought a year's probation to a 17-year-old Ashville boy. A 16-year-old Route 1, Kingston boy was placed on probation for two years when the court found him guilty of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and running away. The court also placed this youngster in the temporary care of the Pickaway County Children's Services.

Samuel Webb, 17, 109 Dunmore

Road, appeared on a traffic citation for failing to stop for a stop sign. The court ordered him to pay the court costs and suspended his license for one month. Webb's driving privileges were restored for driving to and from school and traffic school during his suspension.

Another 17-year-old, Alan D. Rush, Route 2, Ashville, appeared on a traffic violation. Rush was charged with driving 71 miles per hour in a 55 zone. The court ordered him to pay the court costs and suspended his license for one month. The boy was also ordered to attend traffic school.

Steven Lawson, 17, Route 1, was cited to juvenile court for failure to yield the right of way after he was involved in an accident. The court assessed him the court costs and suspended his license for one month.

A Whitehall woman, Roseann E. Hagerman, appeared on a charge of contributing to the unruliness of three minors. The court fined her $200 and suspended $100 of the fine. He also placed Ms. Hagerman on probation for three years.

Ronnie J. Hensley, 17, Route 1, was cited for driving 77 miles per hour in a 55 zone and was fined $10 in court. The judge also suspended Hensley's license for one month but restored his driving rights for work, school and traffic school only during the suspension.

Eighteen-year-old Bryan Lee Downs, Route 3, Orient appeared for the same charge and was also fined $10. His license was also suspended for one month with driving privileges restored for work, school and traffic school.

In other action during the week, the court granted consent for a minor couple to marry.

The court's report of its activities for the month of December was also released this week. According to that report, the court had 79 cases pending at the beginning of the month and filed 67 during the month. The court also terminated 71 cases in December leaving a total of 75 pending cases at the end of the month.

Twenty boys and four girls were placed on probation in December and cases terminated were of the following types: 24 delinquency; 14 unruly; six dependent-neglected; 17 traffic; seven adult; and three consents to marry.

Two OSU Scholarships To Be Awarded To County Students

Ohio State University Development Fund Scholarships will be awarded to two 1976 OSU freshmen from one of the four high schools in Pickaway County.

The scholarships were earned by the efforts of Ohio State alumni who conducted the 1975 OSU Development Fund campaign.

Those conducting the phone and personal contact community campaign during 1975 included Mr. and Mrs. Bob Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stout, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Kohli, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Richards, Mr. and Mrs. George Hamrick, Bob Milburn, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Harmount, Mr. and Mrs. Don Archer, Mr. and Mrs. Phil

Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Chaney Vance, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Scherer. Last year's winners, Teresa Monett and Debbie Wiseman, helped with the campaign.

The awards came to Pickaway County for attaining goals in per cent of alumni participation and per cent of dollar quota obtained for the development fund.

Winners of these scholarships will receive $810 for one academic year. Since OSU operates on a quarter system, payments of $270 will be made toward university fees in each of three academic quarters.

Consideration for the scholarships will be based on the following criteria:

1. Should rank in the upper one-fourth of their 1976 high school graduating class, preferably in the upper one-tenth.

2. Should be recommended by the school principals, teachers, counselors, and/or others concerning scholastic ability and character.

3. Should have a record of performance in activities outside the classroom — in the community, and in the school, or both.

4. Should impress the committee during the personal interview with a sound interest in and attitude toward college work; should be the type of student who reasonably can be expected to succeed at the University.

Interested students should contact the guidance directors at their schools and request that they be nominated on the preliminary nomination forms now at the guidance office.

A selection committee is being appointed from the local fund workers. This committee will screen the preliminary forms and then request that a number of selected individuals complete the longer Freshman Scholarship Application.

By the time the student is completing the freshman scholarship application, his parents must complete a parents' confidential financial statement. This form is available at the high school office and is mailed by the parent to: College Scholarship Office, Box 881, Evanston, Illinois 60204.

The local committee will hold personal interviews with the students; the final selections will follow. The committee's first two choices will receive the Development Fund Scholarships.

The committee will also recommend other high-ranking students to be considered for other available University scholarships or financial aid. In 1975 these later recommendations resulted in seven other students receiving $7,170 in financial assistance.

Rural Americans Tough On Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new poll described as "a unique look into small town America" may fuel the growing political pressure for swift and certain prison sentences for criminals.

The findings show nearly 70 per cent of 18,827 club women surveyed — most of them white and middle-class — believe that harsh prison sentences and reinstatement of the death penalty would reduce crime.

The poll also showed that 33 per cent believe probation is more effective than prison and that 27 per cent believe many prison inmates could be dealt with more effectively in community treatment programs.

But, curiously, an overwhelming 82 per cent agreed with the proposition that citizens should open their neighborhoods to community-based programs for convicted criminals.

The poll was conducted by the General Federation of Women's Clubs to enlist its 600,000 members in a national "Hands Up" volunteer campaign against crime. The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration is financing the effort with a $380,000 grant.

The National Council on Crime and Delinquency tabulated and analyzed the poll of club members. Another 18,480 non-members also were polled but there were no percentage figures available for that group.

Most of those in both groups polled "were women over the age of 40, ... of at least average intelligence and of at least average means," the report said.

"There is reason to believe that the overwhelming majority were white," and most live in towns with a population of 50, 000 or less, the report said.

Justus Friemund, the NCCD official who is analyzing the data, said the findings could provide members of Congress a fresh source of information about their constituents' attitudes.

He noted that club women in many communities are politically active, either as a group or individually.

President Ford has proposed legislation setting mandatory prison sentences for those convicted of violent crimes and repeated offenses, and has urged state and local governments to follow suit.

The call for tougher jail sentences is attracting increased support from criminal justice experts of both liberal and conservative camps.

Juvenile Court Judge Sends 2 Boys To Youth Commission

Two boys were ordered placed in the permanent custody of the Ohio Youth Commission this past week by juvenile court Judge Guy G. Cline. One of the youths was found guilty of car theft and the other, a 17-year-old Grove City boy, was found guilty of violation of probation and breaking and entering.

The court also heard nine other cases during the week including five traffic offenses and one adult case.

A 14-year-old Circleville boy, found guilty of possession of marijuana and violation of probation, was sentenced to 20 days detention. The court suspended 12 of the days and gave the boy credit for eight days he had spent in detention prior to his trial. Judge Cline also ordered that the youth remain on probation until his 18th birthday.

Petit theft charges brought a year's probation to a 17-year-old Ashville boy. A 16-year-old Route 1, Kingston boy was placed on probation for two years when the court found him guilty of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and running away. The court also placed this youngster in the temporary care of the Pickaway County Children's Services.

Samuel Webb, 17, 109 Dunmore

Road, appeared on a traffic citation for failing to stop for a stop sign. The court ordered him to pay the court costs and suspended his license for one month. Webb's driving privileges were restored for driving to and from school and traffic school during his suspension.

Another 17-year-old, Alan D. Rush, Route 2, Ashville, appeared on a traffic violation. Rush was charged with driving 71 miles per hour in a 55 zone. The court ordered him to pay the court costs and suspended his license for one month. The boy was also ordered to attend traffic school.

Steven Lawson, 17, Route 1, was cited to juvenile court for failure to yield the right of way after he was involved in an accident. The court assessed him the court costs and suspended his license for one month.

A Whitehall woman, Roseann E. Hagerman, appeared on a charge of contributing to the unruliness of three minors. The court fined her $200 and suspended $100 of the fine. He also placed Ms. Hagerman on probation for three years.

Ronnie J. Hensley, 17, Route 1, was cited for driving 77 miles per hour in a 55 zone and was fined $10 in court. The judge also suspended Hensley's license for one month but restored his driving rights for work, school and traffic school only during the suspension.

Eighteen-year-old Bryan Lee Downs, Route 3, Orient appeared for the same charge and was also fined $10. His license was also suspended for one month with driving privileges restored for work, school and traffic school.

In other action during the week, the court granted consent for a minor couple to marry.

The court's report of its activities for the month of December was also released this week. According to that report, the court had 79 cases pending at the beginning of the month and filed 67 during the month. The court also terminated 71 cases in December leaving a total of 75 pending cases at the end of the month.

Twenty boys and four girls were placed on probation in December and cases terminated were of the following types: 24 delinquency; 14 unruly; six dependent-neglected; 17 traffic; seven adult; and three consents to marry.

Two OSU Scholarships To Be Awarded To County Students

Ohio State University Development Fund Scholarships will be awarded to two 1976 OSU freshmen from one of the four high schools in Pickaway County.

The scholarships were earned by the efforts of Ohio State alumni who conducted the 1975 OSU Development Fund campaign.

Those conducting the phone and personal contact community campaign during 1975 included Mr. and Mrs. Bob Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stout, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Kohli, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Richards, Mr. and Mrs. George Hamrick, Bob Milburn, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Harmount, Mr. and Mrs. Don Archer, Mr. and Mrs. Phil

Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Chaney Vance, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Scherer. Last year's winners, Teresa Monett and Debbie Wiseman, helped with the campaign.

The awards came to Pickaway County for attaining goals in per cent of alumni participation and per cent of dollar quota obtained for the development fund.

Winners of these scholarships will receive $810 for one academic year. Since OSU operates on a quarter system, payments of $270 will be made toward university fees in each of three academic quarters.

Consideration for the scholarships will be based on the following criteria:

1. Should rank in the upper one-fourth of their 1976 high school graduating class, preferably in the upper one-tenth.

2. Should be recommended by the school principals, teachers, counselors, and/or others concerning scholastic ability and character.

3. Should have a record of performance in activities outside the classroom—in the community, and in the school, or both.

4. Should impress the committee during the personal interview with a sound interest in and attitude toward college work; should be the type of student who reasonably can be expected to succeed at the University.

Interested students should contact the guidance directors at their schools and request that they be nominated on the preliminary nomination forms now at the guidance office.

A selection committee is being appointed from the local fund workers. This committee will screen the preliminary forms and then request that a number of selected individuals complete the longer Freshman Scholarship Application.

By the time the student is completing the freshman scholarship application, his parents must complete a parents' confidential financial statement. This form is available at the high school office and is mailed by the parent to: College Scholarship Office, Box 881, Evanston, Illinois 60204.

The local committee will hold personal interviews with the students; the final selections will follow. The committee's first two choices will receive the Development Fund Scholarships.

The committee will also recommend other high-ranking students to be considered for other available University scholarships or financial aid. In 1975 these later recommendations resulted in seven other students receiving $7,170 in financial assistance.

Rural Americans Tough On Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new poll described as "a unique look into small town America" may fuel the growing political pressure for swift and certain prison sentences for criminals.

The findings show nearly 70 per cent of 18,827 club women surveyed — most of them white and middle-class — believe that harsh prison sentences and reinstatement of the death penalty would reduce crime.

The poll also showed that 33 per cent believe probation is more effective than prison and that 27 per cent believe many prison inmates could be dealt with more effectively in community treatment programs.

But, curiously, an overwhelming 82 per cent agreed with the proposition that citizens should open their neighborhoods to community-based programs for convicted criminals.

The poll was conducted by the General Federation of Women's Clubs to enlist its 600,000 members in a national "Hands Up" volunteer campaign against crime. The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration is financing the effort with a $380,000 grant.

The National Council on Crime and Delinquency tabulated and analyzed the poll of club members. Another 18,480 non-members also were polled but there were no percentage figures available for that group.

He noted that club women in many communities are politically active, either as a group or individually.

President Ford has proposed legislation setting mandatory prison sentences for those convicted of violent crimes and repeated offenses, and has urged state and local governments to follow suit.

The call for tougher jail sentences is attracting increased support from criminal justice experts of both liberal and conservative camps.
